THE BROOKLYN SCANDAL.

The Jury Brought Into Court.

Eleven Believe an Agreement Impossible.

Only One Confident of a Unanimous Conclusion.

The Disputed Point a Question of Fact.

Judge Neilson Sends Them Back to Try Again.

Trial of the Perjury Case.

NEW YORK, July 1, 1875.

The counsel for Mr. Beecher say that the signature of Evarts only is wanting to invite the counsel for Tilton to unite with them in asking Judge Neilson to call the jury into Court, that they may be informed that the alleged newly discovered evidence, embodied in the affidavits of Loeder and Price, was fabricated, that one of the authors has been arrested for perjury, and the other has confessed.

This forenoon Judge Neilson received a communication from the jury, but declined to make the contents known. He, however, immediately sent for the counsel. Shortly before eleven o'clock Mrs. Beecher looked in at the Court room, returning at twelve o'clock, when she was loudly applauded, and took her seat in the front row of the Plymouth chairs, which had been replaced by the ushers, Caldwell and Murray.

When it was rumored that the jury were coming into court the usual large crowd assembled, waiting for the arrival of the counsel.

The counsel having arrived, a consultation took place in Judge Neilson's room. At its conclusion the Judge took his seat on the bench, and at 1:37 the jury came in and took their seats, looking Pale and Exhausted.

Some of them carried coats and traveling bags in their hands, from which the audience argued that they had come to an agreement and were prepared to leave Court. Judge Neilson requested that the utmost silence be observed in Court during the proceedings.

Clerk Mallison called the jury, who answered to their names in low tones.

Judge Neilson said he was sorry that they could not agree, and asked them if the disputed question was one of fact or one of law.

Mr. Carpenter, speaking in a low voice, stated that it was impossible for the jury to agree, and that he regretted it very much. The question of disagreement was one of fact.

Judge Neilson then called attention to the length of the trial, and said that was the first intimation he had from the jury. In our embarrassments, said he, various considerations had been pressed on their attention. Attention had been called to the fact that after the argument, and before the charge, some papers had been handed up to him. He had examined them that evening, and denied the motion for reopening the case, assuming for the moment that the jury would forget that subject. He would like to know if anything was lingering on their minds with regard to the matter, and asked them if it would be suitable for them to state to him any questions of law or fact which disturbed them.

The Disputed Point.

Mr. Carpenter repeated that it was simply a question of fact, and no agreement was possible; that in a month they would be no nearer an agreement than they were to-day. He said he spoke for eleven of the jurors when he said he believed that an agreement was impossible, and that there was only one man who believed that they could ever reach an unanimous conclusion.

Judge Neilson spoke to them of the importance of the case, and asked them to give it their further consideration, requesting them for that purpose to retire to their rooms and deliberate upon it further, and communicate with him about four o'clock.

Mr. Carpenter asked how they should communicate with him, to which he replied that it did not make any matter.

At twenty minutes of two o'clock the jury left Court, ascending to the room from which they came.

At twenty minutes to five o'clock Judge Neilson entered the Court room, and said that after due consideration he had arrived at the conclusion not to call the jury in to-day, and he would take this opportunity of stating to the reporters in attendance that he would give them an hour's notice when the jury were to be called.

The Judge then left the bench and the Court was cleared of spectators.

An Explanation.

Some persons in the Court room got an idea from the remarks of Foreman Carpenter that the jury stood eleven to one. The fact is, as explained by General Tracy, of Mr. Beecher's counsel, that Mr. Carpenter simply meant to convey that eleven of the jurors had made up their minds that it was impossible for them to agree, while a twelfth deemed a further examination of the evidence desirable, and thought it might lead to a verdict.

Correspondence with the Jury.

Below is the correspondence with the jury alluded to by Judge Neilson:

"May it please the Court, we think there is no possibility of our agreeing on a verdict, and we respectfully ask to be discharged.

"May it please the Court, I don't think we ought to be discharged just yet. We are still discussing the evidence, and I think we could profitably stay out longer.
"JOHN F. TAYLOR."

The Trial for Perjury.

The case of Joseph Loeder, the upholsterer, accused of swearing to a false affidavit against the Rev. Henry Ward Beecher, was resumed to-day in the Third District Court of Brooklyn. The Court room was packed with spectators, including a number of the Plymouth church congregation. Joseph M. Pearsall testified that he was a clerk of Morris & Pearsall, and was also a notary public. Knew both Loeder and Price—the former since June 15th; first saw Price in the office of his employers. On the same date witness met Mr. Morris on the sidewalk, who asked him to swear Loeder and Price. On entering his office he found the affidavits of the party drawn up. Judge Morris, General Pryor and Mr. Frank Moulton were present. Mr. Tilton was in a back office, but had nothing to do with the affidavits. Loeder's affidavit was finished by Moulton, after which it was read by Gen. Pryor, and signed by Loeder, who carefully read it before affixing his signature. Price's affidavit was sworn to at the same time.

A Reporter's Testimony.

After Pearsall had concluded his evidence, Mr. Wilcox, of the New York Herald, was called, and testified that he saw Loeder on Friday, the 9th of June. He told him he had been sent to him in regard to something he knew about Mr. Beecher and Mrs. Tilton. Loeder at first seemed reluctant to state what he knew, but finally gave him the substance of the statement published in the Herald. The name of Loeder had been given him by one of the editorial staff.

The District Attorney asked the editor's name.

The witness thought it would not be proper to give it, and the Judge thought it was immaterial.

The witness had several conversations with Loeder. He found Price's name in the directory and went to see his father. Mr. Price, Sr., said he did not think his son knew anything about the affair, as he had never heard him speak of it. He brought witness to where his son was, and after a series of questions he got the statement which he published.

Mr. F. C. Dana,

son-in-law of Dr. Buddington ... he knew ... Joseph Loeder, who was doing some work for him. One evening in May witness went to his (Loeder's) store and had a conversation with him, in which he told him the circumstances of his nailing down a carpet at Mrs. Tilton's. When he went into the room he saw nothing criminally wrong, but the circumstance was suspicious, as he saw Mr. Beecher kiss Mrs. Tilton.

Walter J. Scott,

clerk in the office of Morris & Pearsall testified to his having copied the affidavits, after which it was concluded to adjourn the examination until to-morrow.

A motion was made to admit Loeder to bail, but the Judge said he had no jurisdiction, and the prisoner was remanded.

In his address, to the Synod, the Bishop referred to the subject of marriages in private houses, and addressing the clergy, said: "I must enjoin you to refuse to marry all who refuse to come to church to be married."

Cortina's police have been arrested, disarmed and imprisoned. There is great excitement in Matamoras. Trouble is anticipated. COTTON.

June Report of the Condition of the Crop.

NEW ORLEANS, July 1.—The Committee on Information and Statistics of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, to whom has been entrusted the duty of compiling a national cotton report made up from the returns of the various Exchanges, appointed therefor by the National Exchange, submit the following for the month of June:

New Orleans Department.

LOUISIANA.—We have eighty-three letters from thirty-seven parishes, which unite in reporting generally favorable weather. There has been no additional acreage put in cotton since the 15th of May, but there has been some replanting where lands were overflowed and to perfect the stands. The plant has been better cultivated than for many years, and is growing and forming well. Many blooms are reported, the stands represented as "very good to excellent," and the present condition of the crop is most flattering and "much better," and about one week earlier when compared with last year.

MISSISSIPPI.—One hundred and three replies are received of the average date of about the 15th. The weather is nearly universally represented as very favorable, the stands fine, and the plant forming well, though too early for many blooms. The present condition is stated as "very good and much better" when compared with last year. No additional acreage was put in cotton. Replanting has been done where stands were imperfect. Labor continues plenty and efficient.

ARKANSAS.—Fifty correspondents send in their answers from twenty-two counties. Since the 1st of June the weather has been hot, almost enough to promote rapid growth and cause the plant to form and square well. The stands are very good and no replanting has been needed, except a few exceptional cases. Bradley county reports the first blooming on the 8th inst., but it was only exceptional, and as a rule blooming had not begun at the date of our answers. Our correspondents are unanimous in representing the condition as exceedingly promising and far superior to that of last year. Planters are encouraged by the prospect—one of the finest ever known. Considerable attention and care has been devoted to the cultivation of cereals, and owing to the excellent harvest a feeling of independence is very noticeable in our correspondence.

Charleston Department.

SOUTH CAROLINA.—Ninety-seven answers are received from twenty-seven counties, reporting the weather since May 15th as generally favorable, with some complaints of cool nights. There was very little additional planting. The stands are very generally represented as good—thirty-four answers say forming well, thirty-nine few forms, and nine no forms. All agree in stating that there were no blooms up to the date of their answers. The present condition is good, the plant, though small, being clean of grass, and some points compare favorably with last year's. Heavy storms of wind and hail are reported in six counties since June 7th, doing much local damage. Lice are reported in four counties.

Augusta Department, covering that portion of the State of Georgia not included in the Savannah report.

GEORGIA.—The weather has been favorable; no additional planting; some little replanting. The stands are good and forming well, but no blooms. The general condition is good and about as forward as at the same date of last year. The crop is generally very clean. Labor is plenty and good.

Savannah Department.

The Savannah Cotton Exchange, covering Northern, Middle and Southwestern Georgia, and the State of Florida.

GEORGIA.—The weather was dry and generally favorable. There was no additional planting of any consequence. The stands are all good and plant vigorous, generally forming well, but no blooms, except in the southern portion of the State. The condition is good, the crop clean and well worked. Plants somewhat smaller and a few days later, but rather better than at the same time last year.

FLORIDA.—There was dry and favorable weather, clearing the fields of grass. The stands are good, the plant forming well, and commencing to bloom. The condition is good, and compares favorably with last year. The plant, though small from dry weather, is a little later than last year, promises to be well fruited at the bottom, which is the principal part of the crop.

Mobile Department.

ALABAMA.—Fifty-two counties and one hundred and twenty-six replies. The weather has been generally favorable, rather too dry in some places, but not enough to injure the plant. There has been very little re-planting or additional planting. The stands are good and the plant is forming well. There are very few blooms. The condition as compared with last year is reported from "as good to much better." There are scarcely any unfavorable circumstances relative to the growth or condition of the crop. Only a few reports of lice and grasshoppers and complaints of cold nights and drought. The crop is clean, in good condition and better cultivated than it was last year.

MISSISSIPPI.—Nineteen counties and fifty-six replies. The weather has been generally favorable, needing rain in some counties, and some complaints of cold nights, producing lice. There has been very little replanting or additional planting. The stands are good and the plant forming well. Only a few blooms. The present condition of the crop is better than last year at the same period. The only unfavorable circumstances are those noted above. The favorable circumstances are: The crop is cleaner, better cultivated and more advanced than last year at the same time.

Norfolk and Portsmouth Department.

Fifty-five replies from twenty-nine counties in North Carolina and six replies from two counties in Virginia. Forty-five replies report the weather dry and cold, fourteen say favorable, and only two represent the weather as wet and cold. Fifty-four answers report the stand good; some few complaints on stiff lands; some forms; no blooms.

Seven replies from seven counties in Eastern Carolina represented the stand as below an average. The condition is very generally stated as good, the crop well cultivated and free from grass and weeds; the plant smaller than at the same time last year, and eight to fifteen days later.

Five answers from five counties in Eastern Carolina report the condition bad. The correspondents state that the weather since the 15th of May was too cool for growth, but with warm and seasonable weather a great improvement is looked for in the plant.

Memphis Department.

One hundred and forty-five answers are received. The weather was generally favorable. No additional acreage was put in cotton since the 15th of May. The stands are good and satisfactory, the plant generally squaring and forming freely. On twelve reports of blooms, dating from the 18th to the 20th, the condition is good, the fields full of grass and well cultivated. Some complaints of too cool nights, lice, etc., dating from the 15th of May to about the 5th of June, mostly remedied, however, by subsequent favorable weather.

Galveston Department.

TEXAS.—We have received one hundred and twenty reports from sixty-nine counties, embracing the period between the 15th of May and the 20th of June. The weather was very generally said to have been favorable. There was no addition to the acreage in cotton since the 15th of May; some little replanting where seed failed to come up. The stands are very generally good, and in the coast range of counties the plant is reported to be forming and blooming well.

A large majority of ... our reports agree in the statement that the season is from one to three weeks later than last year, and that the plant is generally small, but clear of grass and weeds, but in good condition, comparing favorably with last year. Rains are needed in many parts of the State, and in several counties serious complaint is made of damage by the cotton louse. The caterpillar is reported in three counties, but so far has done no material damage.

BEAVER COLLEGE COMMENCEMENT.

The College and Its Progress Under President Taylor—Dr. Hunter's Sermon—Judge Kirkpatrick's Address—Grand Concert—Commencement Exercises, Alumnæ Reunion, Etc.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

BEAVER, June 30, 1875.

The quiet and even tenor of the staid old town of Beaver has been considerably stirred by the delightful exercises of commencement week at Beaver College and Musical Institute. And the large community around this town in the bevy of cozy villages seem to be equally affected, and no wonder. Here is an institute which commenced a score of years ago in a modest way as an unpretentious Female Seminary, which was taken in charge a few years after its opening by the present accomplished President, Rev. R. T. Taylor, D. D., and it has rapidly rose from its sickly condition to be a first-class college under his superior tact and scholarly training. The recent extension of the college buildings, and remodeling of the whole, and refurnishing of the rooms, and new equipments for the illustration of the sciences, render the property beautiful in appearance and very comfortable, and also valuable. The college buildings are located on a beautiful flat of several acres, with walks and shades, and on an elevated plateau between the river and the range of hills which skirts the rear of the town, and is as beautiful as healthful. The friends of this college owe President Taylor a large debt for his munificence of physical and mental labor, and gifts in different forms, and the lovers of high-toned education are not stint in their enconiums for his great services, and to his accomplished wife, who has done much towards giving the college its high musical tone.

The following synopsis of the early part of Commencement week will give an idea of the elegance and popularity of the exercises, opening with the excellent programme of the Juniors, comprising essays, declamations and recitations, orations, etc., interspersed, or rather smothered with sweet vocal and instrumental music. The whole programme evinced a steady advance on previous exercises of this character.

Sunday afternoon the Baccalaureate sermon was delivered at 5½ o'clock, to enable members of all churches to hear it, by the Rev. Dr. W. Hunter, editor of the Pittsburgh Christian Advocate. Having been for over a dozen years a leading professor in a prominent college, an author and editor of distinction, he knew just what to say, and how to accomplish the most good. His theme, "Christ as a Leader of Thought," gave him a fitting opportunity to rebuke some "broad-gauge" notions, tending to detract from the teachings of the Great Master. The sermon was worthy of the occasion, and it was enjoyed by the large and appreciative audience.

Monday morning the examination of classes commenced. It was clear to all who were present that the pupils had been receiving the pains-taking care of their teachers, from the thoroughness of the review and the readiness of the answers by the students. In the evening a rich treat was enjoyed from Hon. Judge Kirkpatrick, of Pittsburgh, who delivered the annual address—theme: "The Youth Time of Life." The Judge was gracefully introduced by Chief Justice Agnew, who resides here, and is President of the Board of Trustees of this College. The address was enjoyable and left a fine impression, and as to matter and manner, it was just the thing for the occasion. Judge Kirkpatrick was the guest of Hon. John F. Dravo, who resides in cozy style on the banks of the Ohio river, at the edge of the town. During his stay he met Judges Agnew, Stowe of Pittsburgh, Hice of the Beaver Judicial District, at Mr. Dravo's hospitable board. Mr. Dravo is a fast friend of the College and has given over ten thousand dollars to it. He is the live Vice President of the Board.

Examinations continued through the forenoon and afternoon of Tuesday. At night the Grand Concert took place in the elegant College Hall, which was tastefully decorated with flowers, &c. This spacious room was crowded with the beauty and elite of Beaver, and from the galaxy of towns which girdle this place, notwithstanding it was not free to the public. Those who have been present on former occasions of this character, high as it was formerly, could easily see the improved tone and high standard of the performances. Prof. DeLos Jackson, a man of quiet mien, showed himself to be a master performer, and those under his cage seemed to catch the inspiration of his style. It was plainly seen, too, that the careful training in vocalism, by Mrs. Dr. Taylor, an accomplished singer and instrumental performer, who has had charge of voice culture and vocal music for many years, in the superb singing of the young misses. Without making invidious distinctions in the performers, it is but just to especially commend the singing of Miss Clara Slemmons, Miss Maggie Howell and Miss Emma Patterson, who were required to repeat their songs. The closing piece, "Homage to Verdi," on two pianos and the large pipe organ, by Misses Abrams, Taylor, Stone, Willard and Prof. Jackson, was a charming and delicious brochure, and notwithstanding the night was far spent, the audience insisted on its repetition. Miss Taylor, daughter of the President, though young in years, performed well her part.

As the crowd slowly wended their way from the hall, scores visited the Art Gallery, to examine the numerous and beautiful specimens of the pupils in that department, in charge of that accomplished lady artist, Mrs. C. D. Hurlbutt. Prominent among the number were several beautiful specimens by Mrs. R. A. Wilson, the accomplished wife of a young Pittsburgh merchant, who resides here, the daughter of Hon. J. F. Dravo. The genius displayed by her in so short a period, gives promise of rare artistic talents in the future. Some of the other specimens evince artistic skill, particularly those of Miss Woodroffe and Miss Dravo.

Wednesday opened with examinations, and just before noon the Trustees and visitors were to meet. Portions of the day were set apart for the meeting of Classes of different periods from 1860 to 1874. Commencement exercises takes place at 2:30 P. M., and from 8 to 12, the usual Annual Reunion of Alumniae and President's Levee takes place and the final is reached.

The graduating class consists of Miss Linnie Otto, of Rochester; Miss Lida Leonard, of Newport, O., in the English course; Miss Ada Morton, daughter of Rev. A. D. Morton, of Cleveland; Miss Mary Swaney, daughter of Rev. Dr. J. A. Swaney, formerly of South America, now of Barnesville, O.; Miss Emma Patterson, of Bridgeport, O.; Miss Taylor, daughter of Rev. W. G. Taylor, of the Soldiers Orphan School, Phillipsburgh, in the Classical course, and Miss Mary Smith, of Pittsburgh, in music. Great expectations hang on this evening.

Among the noted persons present are the following: Hon. Daniel Agnew, Chief Justice of Penna.; Cyrus Clark, Sr., New Castle, Pa.; Rev. Dr. W. Hunter, Rev. E. Hingeley, East Liverpool, O.; Rev. T. McCleary, Bridgeport, O.; Hon. C. W. Gilfillan, Franklin, Pa.; Hon. Henry Hice, Beaver Falls, Pa.; J. B. Jennings, Tidioute; Rev. J. A. Swaney D. D., Barnesville, O.; G. W. Huff, Esq., Millersville; Rev. Wm. Lynch, Rev. J. K. Miller, Beaver, Pa.; J. H. McCreery, Esq., Lee S. Smith, Esq., Pittsburgh; Hon. M. Weyand, Beaver, Pa.; Rev. J. E. Wright, Knowlson, Pa.; Hon. M. S. Quay, Secretary of State; Thomas McCreery, Esq., Banker, Beaver, Pa.; Hon. J. W. Wallace, New Castle, Pa.; Rev. L. McGuire, Allegheny City.; Rev. A. D. Morton, Cleveland, O.; Senator Ruten, John Woolf, Esq., East Brady.

The commencement exercises proper came off Wednesday afternoon, in the presence of a large and appreciative audience. President Taylor presided, with the faculty near him on the platform.

After a duet admirably performed on the piano by Prof. Jackson and Miss Morton, followed by prayer, the following essays were read: "I Slept and Dreamed that Life was Beauty, I Woke and found that Life was Duty," Miss Lida Leonard, Newport, O.; "Our Mission," Linnie Otto, Rochester, Pa.; "The Workman Dies, but his Work Goes On," Miss Mary Swaney, Barnesville, O.; "The Lost Arts and the New Arts," Miss Emma Patterson, Bridgeport, O.; "The Coming Woman," Miss Ella Taylor, Phillipsburg, Pa.; "What's in a Name," and Valedictory, Miss Addie Morton, Cleveland, O. The latter was full of tender passages. Miss Swaney and Miss Patterson's essays were well received; the whole, however, was creditable. Miss M. V. Smith, sister of Lee S. Smith, and daughter of Rev. Wesley Smith, of ... Pittsburgh, the musical grad... ...ate, gave fine evidences of ... merit in her vocal and instrumental performance. Misses Maggie Howell, Hays and Patterson also performed well on music.

Chief Justice Agnew, of the Supreme Court, President of the Board of Trustees, addressed the graduates in a handsome manner—with a speech full of sturdy thoughts.

President Taylor, at the close of the address presented the graduates with diplomas, and the superb piece, "Homage to Verdi," two pianos and organ, was repeated. It gave the same pleasure that was vociferously expressed the evening before at the grand concert.

Dr. Taylor stated that the Board of Trustees had conferred upon Miss Magee, long the able Preceptress, as an evidence of the high esteem in which she was held, the degree of Mistress of Liberal Arts.

At night a grand reunion of the alumna and friends took place from eight to midnight. The entire building was placed at the disposal of the company for promenade and social converse. Early in the evening a meeting was held in the college hall to hear an address of welcome from Miss Lou Wilson, and a paper from an alumnus. Refreshments were served, and the remainder of the time was spent in the same manner as in the early part of the evening, interspersed with music.

The college closes a prosperous year, and never held a more interesting commencement. President Taylor announced a reduction of rates for boarding, tuition and music next year, which opens September 14.

WOOL ITEMS.

UP IN Hancock county they are holding wool for 50 cents.—Steubenville Gazette.

IN Zanesville buyers offer 42c, but growers don't seem disposed to sell at that figure.

MR. ROBERT WILEY, of Washington, Pa. has made some purchases of wool at 45 cents.

WOOL is commanding from 40 to 43 cents in this county; it is possible that some choice clips will bring better figures, but hardly probable that the average will be beyond 43 cents.—Woodsfield (O.) Democrat.

G. S. STEWART, Esq., of Washington, Pa., was in the city yesterday on his way out to Guernsey county, Ohio, to buy wool. He says that plenty of wool is to be had in Washington county for 45 cents, but it is not exactly the kind wanted by the Eastern company he represents.—Wheeling Intelligencer.

THE wool clip of our county has commenced to be moved. During last week about 100,000 pounds were purchased at prices ranging from 40c to 45c. Growers in some sections show a disposition to let go at these figures, while others are determined to hold on with the hope of better prices. Buyers are few and orders small.—Washington Review and Examiner.

IN this immediate vicinity no wool has yet passed hands. Growers are disposed to hold their clips until prices are settled to suit them better. We understand that A. J. Schriber, of Moorfield, has bought several clips in the neighborhood of Flushing and and Kenon at 43 to 45 cents, and that James Shepherd & Son, of Morristown, have purchased several lots at 45c, this being their maximum price.—St. Clairsville Gazette.

The Italians.
A NOVEL. By Frances Elliot, author of "Romance of Old Court Life," "The Diary of an Idle Woman in Italy," etc. 1 vol., 12mo. Cloth. Price, $1.50.
"There is a great deal in 'The Italians' that is both fresh and clever. The book has the double recommendation of being entertaining and instructive. It is worth reading for its story, and it contains a series of capital pictures of Italian life and manners."—Times, March 26.
"We have seldom read a more satisfactory book of its kind than 'The Italians.'"—The London Academy.
"'The Italians' is a novel which ought to earn for itself a decided place among the standard fictional literature of the day, and the author may be honestly congratulated upon a brilliant and well-merited success."—London Morning Post.
"She has given us a novel which, whether for force and felicity of diction, skillful contrivance of plot, sketches of life, or conception of individual character, will compare favorably with any fiction of the present season; and, as we have said, there runs beneath all this an under-current of deep meaning. Thought and finish stamp the work throughout."—London Hour.
II.
The Childhood of Religions.
Embracing a Simple Account of the Birth and Growth of Myths and Legends. By Edward Clodd, F. R. A. S. 1 vol., 12mo. Cloth. Price $1.25.
"In a little book entitled 'The Childhood of the World,' which was received by the public with unlooked-for favor, an attempt was made to convey to young persons the knowledge concerning man's early condition, which has been gathered during recent years, and it is to the second part of that work, which treats of his advance from lower to higher stages of religious belief, that the present volume, which deals mainly with the expression and embodiment of that belief in certain great religions of the East, is intended to be supplemental."—Extract from Preface.
III.
The Descent of Man,
AND SELECTION IN RELATION TO SEX.
By Charles Darwin, M. A. With illustrations. New edition, revised and augmented. Complete in one volume. 688 pages. Price $3.
"For our part, we find Dr. Darwin's vindication of the origin of man a far more wonderful vindication of Theism than Paley's 'Natural Theology,' though we do not know, so reticent in his style, whether or not he conceives it himself."—London Spectator.
"Even the charge of atheism, which was so violently urged against Mr. Darwin, is now rarely heard, and theologians, whose orthodoxy is unquestioned, have ventured to admit that it is possible to believe both in Christianity and the Darwinian theory at the same time."—Citizen and Round Table.
"The theory is now endorsed by many eminent scientists, who at first combated it, including Sir Charles Lyell, probably the most learned of geologists, and even by a class of Christian divines like Dr. McCosh, who think that certain theories of cosmogony, like the nebular hypothesis and the law of evolution without doing violence to faith."—Evening Bulletin.
Either of the above sent free by mail to any address in the United States, on receipt of the price.

WE NOTE the activity of the Mormons in drawing fresh recruits from the Old World. Over one hundred and fifty of these deluded creatures, mostly from the lower classes of European society, passed through the city yesterday, en route to Utah. Both sexes and all ages were of the number. Brigham Young's disciples abroad must be energetic, to say the least.

THE Democratic Council of the city of New Orleans have passed a resolution stating the inability of the city to meet its maturing indebtedness, and calling upon creditors to stay their hands. In the meantime, the State Executive Department, which is Republican, calls in all its maturing bonds, and meets all claims upon presentation. Comment is unnecessary.

WE HAVE received from the publishers, the July number of the Republic, a monthly magazine devoted to the dissemination of political information. Its title fully indicates its character, and we regard this number as unusually interesting, and timely, too. Its list of subjects embraces many topics of great public interest, and it should be read by every one who wishes to keep fully posted upon political matters.

WE HAD the pleasure of a visit yesterday from His Excellency Governor Hartranft, and Hon. Henry Rawle, our candidate for State Treasurer. The Governor was on his way home from the Commencement exercises at Washington and Jefferson College. He speaks in the highest terms of the flourishing condition of the old Alma Mater of so many of our citizens. Mr. Rawle was on a flying business trip to our city. Both are in robust health.

THE gold in the Black Hills is a little like the Irishman's flea, "now you see it, and now you don't." One day we have reports of unheard of quantities of the precious metal existing there mountains high, and the next the bright dreams are dissipated. On the whole, it would not be well, in our judgment, to give up a good business or a well located farm for the uncertainties of a life in the miners' camp among the Black Hills. Better wait a year or so; if the gold abounds in paying quantities, it will hardly all be picked up this season.

THERE is some significance in the remark of the Courier-Journal addressed to General Sherman, warning him to beware how he speaks of the South, as he will shortly be dependent upon Confederate votes in Congress for his annual pay and allowances. Those who think all the bitterness and disloyalty of the late erring brethren are laid aside forever, can draw their own conclusions from the above note of warning. It sounds very much like the old whip-crack of the slaveocracy. Think as they do, and you are all right—but beware.

IT WILL certainly be gratifying news to many hereabouts to learn that there is a prospect of the affairs of the Northern Pacific Road getting into such a shape that the interests of all persons connected in any way with it will, in a measure, be protected. The ultimate completion of the road is now thought to be assured through the combination and arrangements effected at the recent meeting of the bond holders. Just what has been done or agreed upon has not yet been made public, but we are assured that its affairs are in the best shape possible for them to be put in. The foreclosure of the mortgage held for the security of the bondholders, we presume, will result in placing the road in the hands of men who are sufficiently interested in pushing it through to an early completion. That portion already in operation has, we are informed, been doing a good business, and there is reasonable hope that when completed the road may prove a dividend paying investment. At least, if the bondholders' interests are properly looked after, their ownership of the road ought to produce revenue sufficient to make fair returns.

IOWA comes squarely up to the live issues of the day in her Republican State platform, and asserts her opinions on all the leading public questions with no uncertain sound. We say the State does so because it is Republican by such an overwhelming majority that the policy of her people finds full expression in the platform of principles of that party. On the contrary, the utterances of the California Democracy, in State Convention, like those of their brethren in Ohio, are somewhat mixed and incoherent on all prominent topics. Witness the following—favoring "a tariff for revenue only, and a currency convertible into gold and silver at the will of the holder." The Iowa Republicans, who have been wrongly charged with free trade tendencies, openly declare for "a revenue adjusted to encourage home industries," and "a gradual conversion of currency into coin," just what the country is aiming to accomplish. The Democratic party is wedded to the doctrine of a "revenue tariff," exclusively, and scouts upon all occasions the doctrine of protection to American labor. Should they gain power this doubtless will become the policy of the Government, and should they then attempt to force specie resumption arbitrarily, the entire country would be bankrupted and its industries destroyed. There can be no question on this point.

THE sad and terribly fatal results of the overflow of the river Garonne, at Toulouse and Agen, in France, are worse even than at first reported. Later accounts fix the number of men, women and children drowned at these places as high as two thousand, and the loss of property at $24,000,000. The flood of rain which visited this section about one year ago, and the loss of life occasioned, caused a thrill of horror to sweep over the country; but ours was nothing to compare with this latest flood in destructiveness of life and property. It is announced that over one hundred thousand persons will be wholly dependent on charity as the result of this calamity, and contributions are being made to alleviate the distress, as far as money can do it. Hungary, also, has been visited with a serious storm, followed by loss of life stated as high as one hundred and twenty, of all ages. This number of bodies has been recovered from the river Danube, and it is thought many more have been swept away that will not be found. The storms of wind and rain which appear to be prevailing at this season to a greater extent than ever before known, are not confined to any one section or country. Throughout the Western States the telegraph has reported the most severe and disastrous tempests during the past few weeks, and only a few days ago one of the worst of these swept across the territory of five or six States. The loss of life, however, and of property, too, has been inconsiderable compared with these floods and storms in Europe.

THE CLOSE OF THE FISCAL YEAR

Considerable interest and some anxiety has been felt for months past, and particularly since business in the Spring failed to come up to the expectations held out, to learn the full report of the last fiscal year. That anxious day was reached on Wednesday, and we have the result in round figures laid before us. The report will cause surprise in more ways than one; but on the whole it is encouraging, as it exhibits several very healthy phases, which even the most hopeful hardly anticipated.

The reduction in the customs rates by the last Congress, although made more out of deference to the clamor for reduced taxation, than through any clear belief that the measure was necessary, or even important, as regards the revenues to be derived from that source, has completely upset the sanguine calculations of the Revenue Reformers, and given the advocates of a purely protective tariff an advantage which was not looked for by the former. They have been continuously demanding a reduction of customs duties until the rates should be placed at the lowest possible point, in order to increase the revenue from this source; or in other words, the Democracy and Revenue Reformers have kept up the cry of a tariff for revenue only. What is the result of the first attempt at a reduction of the tariff? We will not at this time more than refer to the well known condition of our manufacturing industries, completely paralyzed, as we almost confess, but will at another time make this the subject of an article in which we shall try to show clearly that this condition of things is owing in part to our first attempt at revenue reform. At present we shall look at the more direct results of the tariff reduction, and endeavor to draw a wholesome lesson therefrom.

It is clear that the large expectations of increased revenue from customs have not been realized, from the fact that the entire receipts from this source have fallen off from those of 1874 over five million dollars, although it is admitted that the purchases abroad have vastly exceeded those of last year. This has been a disappointment in two ways—first, it shows that the reduction has greatly increased the facility and inducements to import foreign goods, thus draining us more and more of our gold, and bearing out the predictions and verifying the arguments of the protectionists in this regard; second, it has stimulated foreign manufactures at the expense of our own, while the demand for gold has run up the premium to seventeen per cent. Wherein, then, lies the benefit of this tariff reduction? If the revenues, in spite of it, continue to fall off, although we import a larger amount of foreign goods under it, crippling at the same time our home industries, and draining the country of specie, the most ardent advocate of a tariff for revenue must weaken. The sooner the country returns to a system of protecting our home trade and industry, and stops attempting to raise revenue from importations of foreign goods, which come in direct competition with home labor and home traffic, the sooner will we emerge from the depressed condition in which we find the business of the country. A rigid adherence to these well established principles, and a careful watch on the smugglers, who, through one way and another, manage to evade the payment of duties annually, to a greater or less extent, will not only increase the revenues by increasing the business facilities of the country, but at the same time our home industries will be protected from the labor of the foreign pauper population, which is their manifest due.

Now that the new system of conducting the Treasury Bureaus at Washington has gone into effect, whereby a large reduction in the expense of running those departments is saved annually not only, but more efficient and less cumbersome methods have been adopted at the same time, and the number of employes reduced some hundreds, we look for a better report at the end of the next fiscal year, as the new broom in the Treasury building is sweeping thoroughly, and we can reasonably hope that all obstructions to the workings of the revenue laws will be removed.

The internal revenue report is gratifying in more ways than one. In spite of the depressed condition of trade and manufacturing throughout the year, the low price of the staple products of the country, the large number of idle men, the growing numbers of cases in bankruptcy, the various strikes in one branch of industry and another—whereby the producing power of the country has been seriously lessened—nevertheless, in the midst of the alarm all these various drawbacks have occasioned, the receipts of this department have come fully up, not only, but exceeded, by several millions, the estimates of the Commissioner and Secretary of the Treasury. Thus, we have additional reason for congratulation, and can point to the fact with pride and satisfaction, and reiterate the argument, that from this source, after all, must the Government look for its surest revenue. Then why should not our home industries be carefully looked after, guarded and protected and fostered by the Government, as upon their success must depend the prosperity of every section. Every branch of trade will feel the slightest depression from an overstocked market of foreign importations, our people must suffer not only, but the source of our safest and surest revenue will be crippled, if not destroyed. Too much care cannot be taken by Congress at this time, regarded by all as one of the most critical in our material progress that we have yet reached, and an error committed now, might prove so serious, that years would be required to wholly overcome it.

Libel Damages Largely Reduced.

Our readers will remember the libel case in which the London Athenæum was condemned by a Scotch jury to pay £1,275 for stating certain undeniable facts about a firm of map publishers. The Athenæum was disposed to submit to this shameful verdict, but being much pressed to appeal, it at last consented, and the result ought to induce other newspapers to follow the same course whenever pig-headed juries inflict heavy fines upon them for telling the truth. The appeal was taken to the Court of Sessions at Edinburgh, and the Judge expressed a decided opinion that the "amount of damages was utterly unjustified by the evidence." The other side agreed to leave the matter to the court, and ultimately the damages were assessed at £100, and half the expenses of the Athenæum's counsel were allowed. If the original verdict had stood, it would have been absurd to talk any longer of freedom of the press in England.—N. Y. Times.

THE AMERICANS IN IRELAND

Arrival and Reception of the Rifle Team.

Excursions and Banquets at Cork and Dublin—Visit to Gaiety Theatre—The Address of Welcome—Miss Genevieve Ward—Great Whisky Fire in Dublin.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette:

DUBLIN, June 19, 1875.

The Americans are the common subject of conversation now in Dublin. Ever since weeks before the coming of the rifle team, people having been talking about them, and now that they are here, of course they seem to be even of a greater interest. Never before, I believe, has a party of foreigners been received here with such distinguished consideration by all classes and parties. Irish hospitality is trying to outdo its own reputation.

When the Americans landed at Queenstown last Monday, they were at once overwhelmed with invitations to dine, breakfast and lunch, or do anything they would. Of course it was impossible in twenty-four hours to accept so many invitations, and equally, of course, the guests themselves could not decide the question, and the reception committee assumed the responsibility. There were some excursions and banquets at Cork, and on Tuesday they came to Dublin. There was a great reception at the station, and a great crowd at the hotels, where the foreigners were each greeted with rousing cheers as they alighted. Several bands of peculiar character serenaded the guests during the evening, notably one temperance band and one Fenian fife and drum band. The greater part of the best floor of the finest hotel in the city has been taken for the accommodation of the party, and they are there taken care of in the best manner, at the expense of the reception committee.

The streets have blossomed out into a perfect garden of flags, of all kinds—English, Irish, American, and many that are evidently intended to be American, but show evidence of being the result of unskilled handiwork.

It has rained every day since they came to Dublin, and consequently they have kept indoors most of the time, having had but one day's practice at "the bull," as the target ground is called, on account of the constant roaring kept up by the surf there.

Yesterday, the 18th, there were little excursions to several shops and stores by the several ladies who have accompanied the party. In the afternoon they all went to an assault at arms in the Exhibition Palace, where most of the military men of prominence in Dublin met them, and where the display of feats of strength and skill by soldiers of the Dublin garrison are very interesting.

In the evening at 8 o'clock they went to the Gaiety Theatre, where boxes had been decorated for the occasion. The house was packed with people, and so was the street outside, and the cheers which greeted the Americans were very loud and long—so much so, that the modest, quiet gentlemen of whom the party is composed, seemed to be surprised and embarrassed, and all the while the notes of the orchestra playing "Hail Columbia," were vainly trying to pierce the roar of the shouts and cheers. I saw one gentleman nearly blush; he was the portly representative of a New York journal, and he was consequently, more shy than most men. After the row had ceased the curtain rose and the American tragedienne, Miss Genevieve Ward appeared, dressed as Erin, in a garment such as Irish ladies of ancient times and noble lineage once wore, and on her head was an exact model of one of the Celtic crowns, now treasured in the gold room of the Irish Academy. This apparition was greeted boisterously by the audience, whose enthusiasm seemed to be at the boiling point. Then Miss Ward recited the following ode, written for the occasion. That it was well recited, is a matter of course, for Miss Ward is a fine actress and a good elocutionist. To understand its references, you should know that the Messrs. Gunn are the managers of the Gaiety Theatre, and you should recollect that Major Leech is captain of the Irish rifle team; also that the O'Connel Centenary takes place next month:

AN ADDRESS TO THE AMERICAN RIFLE TEAM ON THEIR RECEPTION AT THE GAIETY THEATRE, DUBLIN, JUNE 18, 1875. WRITTEN BY S. N. ELRINGTON, ESQ., B. L. SPOKEN BY MISS GENEVIEVE WARD.

Robed as Hibernia's daughter, lo! I stand,
Like you, a guest in dear Old Ireland.
Ye Riflemen, by favor of our Gunn's,
Columbia's daughter, hails Columbia's sons.
Had I ten thousand hands, with all I'd meet ye,
Had I ten thousand tongues, with welcome greet ye;
Tho' time and space may seem to interpose,
And 'twixt our shores, a cruel ocean flows,
With magic wand I touch the electric springs,
An instant, a responsive answer brings.
Which proves, however distant be each land,
Both nations are united heart and hand.
Our Sires by famine and by wrongs oppress,
Found ever shelter in the glorious West;
And in their children's hearts left still enshrined,
The love of home, that distance could not blind,
Then, by their honored ashes, by their graves,
We greet you brothers from across the waves.
Brothers in blood, as well as hearts and speech,
Brought here together by our favorite Leech.
Welcome, then welcome; and a happy time,
Marr'd by no weeping from our tearful clime.
We wish propitious skies—yet still we deem
The reigning favorite, the Rifle Team.
Come to our feast—with love our hearts are full—
The fatted calf we'll kill—it is a bull.
Soon when arrayed in contest, you may try,
The Metal of that bull—but mind his eye.
Ye strive in friendship; if you win, you'll meet
No heartier cheering than from those you beat.
And if your brothers win, you won't despair?
You still have left, a younger brother's share.
Ireland in either case is doubly blest,
She wins the most, in losing to her guest.
Oh! may the spirits of the blessed dead
O'Connell, on whose tomb warm tears are shed,
And Washington, with all that noble throng,
Whose names are ever an unceasing song,
Who strove for liberty, now by you stand,
And silent bless each patriotic band—
And so we welcome you, with hands, hearts, eyes,
Cead mille failthe, echoes the skies.

After the recitation, Miss Ward played "Medea" and the last two acts of "Merchant of Venice." More than a year ago I had occasion to predict a great future for Miss Ward on the stage. Since then she has had a successful career in the provinces and a London success, having played for more than four months at the Adelphi, where she was engaged to fill a gap of three weeks, but proved so attractive as to be kept the whole season. She has engaged to go to America next Winter with Mr. Max Strackosh, and I have no doubt she will be as favorably received by her own countrymen as she has been by the English.

During the interval between the plays, the Lord Mayor, who was present in state, wearing his gold chain of office, paid a friendly visit to the rifle box, and when the gods recognized him there was a renewal of applause and excitement, which would not be calmed until the orchestra played Yankee Doodle and St. Patrick's Day.

During the evening a most disastrous fire broke out in a whisky warehouse in one of the lowest parts of the city, and nearly a whole block of buildings was destroyed. Owing to the great quantity of spirits, water was of no avail, and streams of burning liquor ran in the streets. Dams of mud were built to stem the torrent and wet clay was thrown on the burning spirits. Squalid wretches of both sexes could here and there be seen prone on the ground drinking the maddening fluid, and some had to be carried away senseless, to preserve them from the approach of the flames. The damage done was very considerable, but at present no one seems to know the amount. Several of the American guests, the Lord Mayor, Major Leech and others went to the fire from the theatre.

To-day there is an excursion to the Vastry water works, and a grand dejeuner at 3 o'clock, given by Alderman Jameson. This evening the rifle men are going to Miss Ward's benefit. On Sunday, to-morrow, the party is to go to St. Patrick's (Protestant) Cathedral. On Monday the Irish Board of Lights give them an excursion in their steam yacht, and a luncheon, bringing them back to Kingstown for a banquet at 7:30; and every day until nearly the middle of July has been fully arranged for. Much to the disappointment of their entertainers, the "team" has announced that its members are all total abstinence men, at least until after the match on the 29th, so that the banquetting and junketing may not interfere with their steadiness of hand.

TEMPERANCE IN ENGLAND.

Reception to Neal Dow—Statistics from the Blue Book Showing a Concurrent Increase of Crime and the Liquor Traffic.

Tuesday evening the National Temperance Society of America, in New York, tendered a public reception to Hon. Neal Dow, of Maine, the well-known and successful temperance advocate, who has just returned from a two years' tour through Europe, where he has been pushing forward the temperance cause with much vigor and effect. The reception was presided over by Mr. William E. Dodge. The hall was well filled, and on the platform with the Chairman were Rev. Geo. H. Hepworth, Rev. Dr. Prime, and Judge Black, of Pennsylvania. The proceedings were opened with prayer by Rev. Dr. Prime, after which a resolution was adopted, welcoming the return to America of the guest of the evening. Mr. Dodge then introduced Mr. Dow to the audience. His address consisted chiefly of some description of his experiences in Great Britain, and of the feeling prevailing there regarding the consumption of intoxicating drinks. He said that the United Kingdom Alliance, established in June, 1853, had been, and is still, doing noble work in its efforts to suppress the sale of liquors. Poverty and pauperism are widespread throughout England, while crimes of all kinds are abundant, and drunkenness flourishes with a baneful influence. The society referred to believes the only way to amend these evils is by suppressing the sale of strong drinks, and with this object in view, every effort is being made to have passed a prohibitory law similar to that now in force in the State of Maine. The temperance party are strong both numerically and purpose, and support only such candidates for Parliament as will bind themselves to vote for the Prohibitory law. Already two-thirds of the Irish members, two-thirds of the Welsh members, and a majority of the Scotch members of Parliament are pledged to their side, while in England alone are the friends of the liquor dealers in superior force. The speaker next drew some touching pictures of the happiness which prevails in a temperance community as compared with the misery and wretchedness which exists where the working people dissipate their wages in gin and other liquors, and then read an extract from the Blue Book of England showing the rapid increase of paupers and criminals in that country, and the amount of money squandered on liquors. The years selected were 1860 and 1872. In 1860 there were spent in liquors £86,897,683, while in 1872 £131,601,490 were expended. The number of convictions during the former year for drunkenness was 93,745, and for the latter 151,084. The number of paupers in the country in 1860 was 1,010,158, while 1872 showed a total of 1,170,618. The total number of convictions for all offenses in 1860 was 255,803, and in 1872 the total reached 423,581. These figures, he said, spoke for themselves, and showed an alarming state of affairs, which was clearly traceable, in his opinion, to the growing passion of the people for strong drinks.

Latest Advices Concerning Money and Stock Matters.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, FRIDAY, July 2, 1875.

There was nothing new in money circles yesterday. The banks did very little discounting, all of them refusing outside paper till they balanced up their semi-annual business. Many of the banks whose quarterly and semi-annual dividend falls due on July 1st have responded, and their stockholders will be made glad with the usual announcement. Some few will not declare dividends, preferring to add their earnings to their surplus funds, and a few of them have declared a four per cent., instead of a five per cent., dividend. All of our banks, we are pleased to say, are sound and prospering.

NEW YORK, July 1, 1875.

Money was easy at 2a3; prime mercantile paper 3½a5. Sterling was firm at 487 for sixty day and 490 for sight. The customs receipts were $254,000. Gold was strong, opening at 116⅞ and closing at 117⅛. The borrowing rates were 1a2. Loans were also made flat and at 1 per cent. for carrying. The Assistant Treasurer disbursed $991,000. The clearings were $32,000,000. The gold awards today were $1,000,000 at 116.85½a116.93. The specie shipments to-day were $400,000, of which $250,000 was in gold coin. Governments are steady. Railroad bonds are firm. State securities were quiet, except Tennessees, which were strong and higher.

The Executive Committee of the Lake Shore Company have put forth a statement, which shows gross earnings for six months of $6,941,000, expenses $5,465,000, and net earnings $1,476,000. After paying the interest, there is a balance of about $59,000, and no dividend was declared. There was a sharp decline in stocks immediately after the above announcement.

Stocks were irregular at the commencement of business, and later became weak, with the decline ranging from ⅛ to ½ per cent. Shortly after twelve o'clock there was a spurt in Pacific Mail, Western Union and Union Pacific, which acted as a brace for the rest of the market, but toward the close the whole market tumbled, with Lake Shore as the feature. At the final close, however, stocks were strong and higher, with a recovery of ⅛ to 1½ per cent. from the lowest point. The greatest strength was in Pacific Mail, which rose from 39⅞ to 40⅝, closing at 40⅛. Lake Shore declined to 59, and closed at 59⅞. Western Union recovered from 79 to 79⅞, and closed firm. Union Pacific rose from 75⅛ to 75½, closing at the latter figure. Northwest advanced to 38½. The other changes were slight. There was good buying of stocks on the decline occasioned by the Lake Shore statement.

The transactions on the Stock Exchange aggregated 266,000 shares, of which 64,000 were Pacific Mail, 76,000 Western Union, 8,000 Northwest, 6,000 Erie, 92,000 Lake Shore, and 4,000 Union Pacific.

The Highwine Market.

Messrs. F. O. Boyd & Co., of New York, in their weekly circular, state that the "week closed with a dull and depressed market for highwines, owing to liberal receipts and excessive dullness in the city as well as country trade. The market opened on the 21st with sales of 250 barrels at $1.20, at which figure the market remained steady up to the 24th, when it receded half a cent, closing to-day at $1.19½. The stock of highwines in the country is being considerably reduced, and with its continued decrease in production, will not last over 60 days. We estimate the present stock in bond at 32,000 barrels, and the daily production at 100 barrels. Alcohol, tax paid, remains firm and quiet, with the supply fully equal to the demand, and sells at $2.25@2.28 ⅌ gallon. Alcohol for export entirely nominal with no orders, and we quote the price nominally at 39c to 40c ⅌ gallon. Receipts of highwines and alcohol, 1,000 barrels; sales, 1,450 barrels. Average price of highwines, $1.19¾; of alcohol, $2.26¾. Present stock of highwines, 4,000 to 5,000 barrels."

Messrs Miller & Co. in their weekly circular say that "during the past week the highwine market has ruled dull and barely steady, with moderate sales at $1.20@1.19½, closing on Saturday dull and quiet at the latter price. Alcohol has been in good supply at about highwine price. For export Alcohol was offered at 35 to 37c without buyers. The total receipts for the week were 2,654 barrels, of which about 1,200 barrels were highwines and alcohol. The production around New York city probably amounts to full 125 barrels ⅌ day. Stock in store estimated at from 5,600 to 6,000 barrels, and slowly decreasing. The general suspension of work in the distilleries at the principal points in the west would clearly indicate that there is no profit in producing at the present price, and, therefore, either an advance must take place or corn decline considerably before many houses will start up at these points."

New York Wool Market.

NEW YORK, June 30.—Business is quiet and far from satisfactory, and values are in buyers' favor. The new clip is arriving more freely here, but there is no accumulation. The extreme high prices asked by farmers has prevented buyers from purchasing freely; at about 40 to 42c a good business could be done. Farmers' views are 43 to 45c., and trade is chiefly confined to Texas and California Wools; these sold at easier rates. Pulled Wool meets with a fair demand at unchanged prices. Manufacturers still refuse to purchase beyond their immediate wants. Foreign Wools quiet at steady rates; there has been a considerable amount of Foreign Clothing Wools reshipped to Europe. The goods market is dull, and prices are in buyers' favor pretty generally. The sales embrace 145 bales Fall California, private terms; 40 bales Extra Pulled, 44½; 50 bales do do., private terms; 15 bags Lambs' 45; 40 bags Shearlings, private terms; 6,000 lbs. Coarse Western Texas, 25c; 1,600 lbs. Black do., private terms; 20,000 lbs. Eastern Texas, private terms; 5,000 lbs. Fleeces, private terms; 23,000 lbs. Texas 24c; 12,000 lbs. do., 30c; 3,000 lbs. slightly burry Georgia, 32c; 2,000 lbs. Free California, 32½c; 3,000 lbs. Texas, 32½c; 25 bales Fall California, private terms; 2,000 lbs. Indiana Combing, private terms; 2,500 lbs. Secured California, private terms.

Condition of the Markets at Home and Abroad.

DAILY REPORT OF PITTSBURGH MARKETS.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, July 1, 1875.

General business continues dull, more so, if we mistake not, than it ordinarily is at this particular time, and while some of our cotemporaries are still harping away in regard to hard-pan having been reached and that better times are near at hand, there is not much evidence apparent at present of an immediate improvement. There is some consolation in the fact, however, that business is settling down upon a more healthy basis, and that over-trading, which was so common prior to the panic, has been pretty well squelched out.

APPLES—The receipts of old continue light, and they will soon be out of season; quotable at $3@5 ⅌ bbl, according to quality and condition. New crop will soon commence to arrive.

APPLE BUTTER—50@55c ⅌ gallon.

BEANS—The demand continues light and the market is dull, but with a meagre supply, prices are still maintained; mediums, $1,80@1,85, navies, $1.90@2.

BUTTER—There is no improvement to note in the demand, and with the supply steadily accumulating and a stronger disposition on the part of dealers to realize, prices are weak, with a drooping tendency: Prime to choice solid packed, 15@17c; common to fair, 10@12. There is very little roll coming forward, in consequence of the hot weather, and if there was, it would bring no more than solid packed.

BROOMS—Following are "Union Factory" rates:—from store:—No. 2 common, $2,25; No. 3 hurl, $2,50; No. 4 hurl, $3; No. 5 hurl, $3,50; No. 6 hurl, $3,75; No. 3 carpet, $4; No. 4 carpet, $4.25; No. 5 carpet, $4.50; fancy parlor, $4,75; steamboat brooms, $3 to $3.50; plain whisks, $1,25 to $1,75; Fancy whisks, $1.50 to $2; Toy Brooms $1.25 to $1.50.

BERRIES—Strawberries will soon be out of season; sold to-day at 10@15, as to quality and condition. Raspberries, of which the receipts are increasing, 15@18c ⅌ quart.

CHEESE—The market for prime Ohio Factory continues fairly active, and prices are fully maintained; 11@11½ in a jobbing way. A New York exchange, of Wednesday, reports that market as follows:—Receipts have run very heavy during the past two weeks, and though the shipments have been favorably liberal the unsold surplus is an annoying one to sellers, especially as the week will be apt to average dull, owing to the break into it that the Fourth of July will occasion. The reports from abroad are of an improved tone, but shippers do not seem to feel any confidence in the prolongation of stiffer English prices, and the market to-day shows a downward tendency in all transactions that we heard of. Country cost is about the highest obtainable figure to-day. We would not be understood to say that there is an unwieldy surplus here, but with the indefinite information as to future receipts, and the unreliable quality of Summer stock, sellers seem determined to cut loose, even if they are compelled to meet shippers. If receipts prove to be light, a little firmness may be infused into the market, but if they are in proportion to those of the past fortnight, the reverse will be the result.

DRIED FRUIT—Quiet; Apples, 7½@8½. Peaches, halves, 10@10½.

EGGS—The receipts during the past few days have been comparatively light, and with an increased demand, as is nearly always the case just preceding the Fourth of July, prices are firmer although unchanged; we continue to quote at 18@19.

FLOUR—We have to report a very quiet market—the demand is restricted almost wholly to supplying immediate wants, while prices remain without change. Spring wheat flours, $5,75 to $6,25, the outside figure for choice Minnesotas; winters, $6.25@6.50 for red, and $6,75@7 for amber and white. Rye Flour, $6@6,25.

GROCERIES—The grocery trade continues dull, as it always is at this particular time, and it is not likely there will be any change for the better, until next month. Raw Sugars continue dull, and in heavy stock, while Refined goods on the other hands are firm, and the recent advance is still maintained. Coffees firmer, and the indications at the present writing warrant the prediction that prices will be advanced within the next few days, although there are those who do not take much stock in this view of the matter. Molasses and Syrups quiet and unchanged.

GRAIN—Trade in grain circles continues exceedingly dull, unusually so, for this season of the year, and it is not expected that there will be any very decided improvement until after harvest. There is very little Wheat coming forward, but there does not appear to be much inquiry for it; in the absence of sales, Penna. and Ohio Red Wheat may be quoted at $1,25@1.28; ditto amber and white, 3@5 cents additional. There is but little doing in Oats, both retailers and dealers continue to buy very sparingly, and prices are weak but not quotably lower; 62@63 for mixed, and 64 for white. Ear Corn in light supply and firmer, with rather more inquiry; quotable at 75@77 on track, according to quality. Shelled Corn, however, continues dull; nominal at 75@77, free in elevator. Rye quiet and unchanged—$1.12@1.15.

HAY—The market for baled continues dull, with a supply somewhat in excess of present wants, and, as compared with a week ago, prices are lower; prairie, $17 to $19; and timothy, $20@22. Loose from country wagons, $25 to $28.

MILL FEED—Continues very dull, and both Bran and Middlings are lower; sales of the former at $18@19 ⅌ ton, and the latter at $1.35@1.45 per cwt. Chopped Feed, being in light supply, is still holding its own pretty well; $1.65@1.75.

POTATOES, ETC., ETC.—New Potatoes dull and lower; quotable at $2.50 to $3.50 ⅌ bbl., as to quality and condition. Old Potatoes in sympathy, also dull and drooping; quotable at 90@$1 per bush. String Beans, $2½ ⅌ bbl. Peas, $2 ⅌ bush. Onions ⅌ box, $1; Cabbages, $2.50 ⅌ bbl; Cucumbers per box, $1.00.

PROVISIONS—The market continues fairly active, and excepting Lard and Mess Pork, prices are firm. The stocks in Cincinnati are reported at 25,600 barrels pork, and 20,000 trcs lard, against 6,000 barrels pork and 4,500 trcs a year ago.

PITTSBURGH PETROLEUM MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, July 1, 1875.

The market for Crude was considerably firmer, and, as compared with yesterday, prices have advanced from 5 to 7½c per barrel; immediate shipment was quoted at $1.30@1.32½. This being the first of July operators in the producing regions were busy making settlements, and the advance was not generally expected, as it was supposed that there would be a good deal of oil, held by tankers and speculators, thrown upon the market, and that a decline would be the result. Refined also firmer, with 9⅞c bid, deliverable at Connellsville depot to go to Baltimore, and 12c delivered in Baltimore, Philadelphia or New York.

The Barrel trade continues quiet and unchanged; countries, $1.10 to $1.15; city make, $1.28 to $1.30.

PITTSBURGH LIVE STOCK MARKET.

OFFICE OF THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE, THURSDAY, July 1, 1875.

PITTSBURGH CENTRAL STOCK YARDS.

ARRIVALS.

Following were the arrivals of live stock at these yards from Sunday up until noon to-day, and, to afford a comparison, we append those of the corresponding time last week also:

CATTLE.

The arrivals, as will be seen, have been considerably below those of the corresponding time last week, and the receipts of local stock were considerably in excess of the through consignments, something unusual within the past week or two, unusual thing. The volume of business shows a large falling off, the sales aggregating 1,839 head, against 3,048 the same time last week. Philadelphia bought 65 cars, against 95 cars last week; so far as we could learn, there was not a single bullock bought for either New York or Baltimore; country dealers and butchers took 43 cars. In addition to those purchased here there were 29 cars shipped on to Philadelphia in first hands.

It would naturally be inferred, in view of the falling off in the receipts, that the market would have reacted, especially as the market was very unsatisfactory to the selling interest last week, but such was not the case. On the contrary, it was considerably worse than that of last week, and by odds the worst we have had this year; yesterday was worse than Tuesday and it was worse to-day again than it was yesterday. Notwithstanding the supply was comparatively light, there was a large number of market cattle remaining in the pens unsold when we left the yards, and it is evident that they will either have to be shipped on in first hands or held over for next week, and common and medium cattle close a full ¼ lower; inferior, ⅜ to ½; prime fed stock, of which the supply was comparatively light, did not decline much in consequence. Texas cattle continue very dull, even for the best grades, and the same is true of native grassers, of which the supply largely consisted. Indeed, the market for all kinds was very hard on the selling interest, nearly all of whom, it is evident, lost money.

HOGS.

The hog trade continues quiet, and notwithstanding the arrivals have been light the supply was fully up to the demand, and within the past 24 hours prices have declined 10 to 15 cents per cwt. The hot weather has had considerable to do with curtailing the demand, and the fact that the Fourth is to be celebrated on Monday, regular market day both in New York and Philadelphia, was not without its effect, as it caused shippers to buy more sparingly than they would otherwise have done. But for the light receipts, as well as the fact that the product has stiffened up very materially within the past week, the shrinkage in prices would have been much greater.

SHEEP AND LAMBS.

The market for this class of stock was by common consent pronounced the worst we have had this year; some operators went so far as to declare that it was the worst it has been in five years. What is more remarkable is that the run was unusually small, less by one-half as compared with the same time last week, and therefore unexpected; prices dropped from ¼ to ⅜, in the best grades, while as regards common and inferior, they were hard to sell at any prices. The advices from all points, Philadelphia, New York, and Baltimore, were alike unfavorable, and we are satisfied that shippers generally lost freight and expenses, and others in addition, sold for less than cost in the country. We would advise our country friends to hold back for a week or two, or at least check up in their shipments to this and other markets in the east, until the accumulation is worked off; otherwise no improvement need be expected.

GEO. H. ROHE, Sergeant Signal Service, U. S. A.

THE stage of water last evening was 3 feet 4½ inches, and stationary. Cloudy and warm, with indications favorable for rain. The Monongahela was reported stationary at headwaters, and the Allegheny falling.

THE Coal Exchange will meet this morning at 10 o'clock.

LOUISVILLE collected $511,90 wharfage during the two weeks ending June 26.

CAPTAIN JAMES PAUL advertises his interest in the Thompson Dean for sale.

THE steamer Hope, which has been lying at Bellaire for several days on account of low water, started for Pittsburgh yesterday afternoon.

NO arrivals or departures, and there are no boats due. The Exchange should reach here by Sunday, if not before, and the John L. Rhoads early next week.

THE hull of the Belle Lee has been purchased by Humble & Wensel, for $3,700, and is to be turned over to them on the 15th of August, when it will be taken to Mound City, and converted into a wharf-boat for use at Vicksburg.

CAPT. F. Y. BATCHELOR, Charles Regnier, and George W. Keyes have purchased the Walnut Street House, Cincinnati, instead of the St. James, legal difficulties preventing them from assuming control of the latter for some time.

CAPT. EUGENE L. SHINKLE, of the pleasure steamer Champion No. 9, and Miss Mattie Greenwood, of Covington, were married on Tuesday last, and started eastward on a wedding tour.

CAPT. R. REES, an old steamboatman, but who for some years past has been employed at the outer depot of the Penna. R. R., has been off duty for a few days, during which he has spent some of the time about the landing, looking up old river friends.

A VICKSBURG paper says: The present steamer Natchez is the sixth boat of that name that has been built by the favorite of this community, Captain Thos. P. Leathers. The first of his line was built in 1846, and for nearly thirty years the Natchez has done its full share of the business of the merchants and planters of this vicinity. But Captain Leathers was not the first to run a boat of that name in the trade between this city and New Orleans. Looking over an old file of a paper published in Natchez fifty years ago, we find the name of a regular Natchez and New Orleans packet,—"Natchez," Captain Buckner, which made ten-day trips between the two places.

THURSDAY'S Cincinnati Commercial says: The Kittie Hegler will positively depart for Pittsburgh this evening, in charge of Captain J. D. Hegler. She has a full cargo engaged, but will take all furniture and light freight offering. The John L. Rhoads also departs for Pittsburgh this evening.... Captain F. Y. Batchelor, late of the steamer Mollie Ebert; Mr. George W. Keye, of Ironton, Ohio, and Mr. Charlie Regnier, of the Crawford House, have purchased the Walnut Street House, instead of the St. James, the legal difficulties under which the latter rested precluding the possibility of their assuming control of it for some time to come.... Mr. B. D. Wood, of the famous coal firm of B. D. Wood & Bros., was on 'Change yesterday, en route from New Orleans to Pittsburgh, on a flying trip.

A ST. LOUIS special, under date of Tuesday, to the Cincinnati Commercial, says:—Business is fair for the time of the year. The departures for below had light trips, but those for the upper trades were well freighted. The Commonwealth will get away for New Orleans to-morrow with about all she wants. The Bismarck follows on Saturday. Rates are 40c for flour, and 20c per one hundred. Commodore W. F. Davidson is putting new life into the old Keokuk Northern Line since he assumed the management of it. In addition to having the steamers all put in splendid condition, he is running them at a speed and a punctuality quite unknown in these waters heretofore. The Andy Johnson, fresh from the hands of the dockers and painters, left for Keokuk this afternoon, looking very handsome. Thus far the business of this company has been very satisfactory. The Leopard left for Dubuque with 3 barges of coal. There is very little offering for the Ohio, even ore is dull.

HOME NEWS.

The Gazette for the Summer.

Persons leaving the city for the summer can have the Daily GAZETTE sent to them by mail, by leaving their orders at the counting-room.

Notice.

Our East Liberty patrons are hereby notified that Mr. L. Harvey is now the only authorized agent of this paper in the East End. All orders left at his news stand will be promptly attended to by his carriers.

Boy Hurt.

About four o'clock yesterday afternoon a little boy was accidentally thrown from the rear part of a butcher's wagon, on Boquet street, Allegheny, by the horse starting unexpectedly. The little fellow fell striking his head against a large stone, and received a large wound on the side of the head, from which he bled profusely. It was believed that his skull was fractured. He was at once removed to the office of a physician.

Death Under the Wheels.

Yesterday morning the body of Thomas Woods, a resident of Wilkinsburg, was found on the Pennsylvania railroad near Brushton station, with the head severed from the trunk. It appears that Woods had started to come to the city on the eight o'clock train on Wednesday night, and nothing was known as to his whereabouts until he was found yesterday morning. An inquest will be held on the remains this evening. The deceased was a single man, twenty-seven years of age and a painter by trade. He leaves a widowed mother and a brother grown up.

The First and the Best.

Our friend D. M. Jenkins, of the "Old Tea House," No. 20 Fifth avenue, justly noted for the variety and quality of his great specialty—Tea—establishes new claims to honor for his enterprise in procuring the first of this year's crop and importations. The invoice of teas just received comprises, with other crops, some of the justly celebrated "Garden Grown" teas, perfectly fresh, and praiseworthy for its delightful flavor and fragrance. We were shown by him a letter of advice from the great tea importing firm of Messrs. G. W. Lane & Co., of New York, attesting the verity of what we have said of these new teas, and we commend the tea and the house alike, as worthy of all praise.

BOYS ATTENTION.

Fire Crackers Prohibited in Allegheny.

Mayor Phillips of Allegheny, has determined to strictly enforce the ordinance forbidding the firing of fire crackers in the streets of Allegheny, during the next few days, and he desires that the parents do not allow the juveniles to fire them off in the yards. He does not want to see such another fire as that of the 4th of July of last year, caused by fire crackers.

BALL AND BAT.

Yesterday Afternoon's Contest at Union Park—The Xanthas Beaten by the Philadelphians.

The game of base ball yesterday afternoon at Union Park, between the Philadelphia and Xantha clubs, was unusually interesting and attracted a large number of spectators, among whom was a large proportion of ladies. The game commenced at half-past three o'clock and finished at five, both sides doing some very good playing. The fielding of the Xanthas was as fine as the Philadelphias, the great superiority of the latter being in their batting. The score is as follows:

PHILADELPHIAS.	O.	R.	XANTHA.	O.	R.
Crawley, c.	4	2	Sullivan, 2d b.	5	0
McGeary, 3d b.	3	2	Jackson, 3d b.	3	0

THE INDUSTRIAL INSTITUTE.

The Bids on the Exposition Building—The Contract to be Let Next Monday.

Shortly after the selection of the site of Smoky Island for the erection of the exposition buildings of the Pittsburgh Industrial institute, bids were opened for the letting of the contract. Eleven bids were submitted, which were refused, because none of them were for less than $79,000, and the committee had determined not to go over $45,000. It appears that there was a misapprehension as to the cost of driving the piles on which the building is to rest, and that $20,000 was the estimated cost of this item alone by the first bidders. It is now thought this part of the work can be performed at a cost not exceeding $5,000, which will very materially change the aggregate in the cost of the entire structure. Five hundred piles will have to be driven which are to be composed of oak, and they will be sunk to the depth of twenty feet. On this the structure will rest, having a solid foundation.

There are two plans in existence upon which bidders have an opportunity to base their estimates. Both these plans have been made since the rejection of the bids named, some time ago, and do away with all unnecessary ornamentation. The contract will be let at twelve o'clock next Monday.

A FAREWELL MEETING.

Giving Professor Luckey a Send-off—A Pleasant Fraternal Occasion.

Last evening a number of the friends of City Superintendent George J. Luckey assembled in the parlor at the Union Depot Hotel, to bid him good-by, as he was to take the 7.41 train for New York, whence he sails for Europe. The gathering, after a short time had been spent in fraternal interchanges, resolved itself into a more formal meeting, when the following resolutions were passed:

Resolved, That the object of Prof. Luckey in visiting the Old World for the purpose of inspecting the school systems and noting the educational progress among the enlightened natives, merits our warmest commendation, and that he carries with him the best wishes of those who teach under his direction.

Resolved, That his zeal and ability as a teacher, his excellent judgment in educational matters, and his thorough knowledge of our particular school system eminently qualify him for the task of making comparisons, and gathering and collecting such information as shall prove beneficial.

Resolved, That we commend Mr. Luckey to the kindly offices and the fraternal regards of those engaged in the educational work in the foreign lands he is about to visit, and to the recognition of the fraternity and good fellowship of generous spirits all over the world.

In response to the resolutions Prof. Luckey made a feeling reply, and expressions of good wishes were formally made by Messrs. Ford, Harrison, Dolan, Duncan, Wilson, Lindsey, Duff, Andrews and Miss Knowles. The meeting was closed by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne," and the company separated after seeing their friend off on the train.

Mr. Lucky is accompanied by his accomplished wife and two children, who carry with them the good will of hosts of friends and admirers.

"SMOKY ISLAND."

An Opinion Delivered by Judge White—The Question of law Reserved. Decided in Favor of the Plaintiffs—The Case to be Carried to the Supreme Court.

Yesterday morning Judge White rendered a decision on the question of law reserved in the Smoky Island case, which was argued before the court in banc a few days since. The decision was in favor of the plaintiffs and in delivering its opinion the Court said: "The jury were instructed to find for the plaintiff, Killbuck, or Smoky Island, as it existed in 1806, bounding it by low water mark at the head and front, and on the northern side, but on the south by low water line, so fixed by the Commissioners under the act of Assembly of the 16th April, 1858, subject to the opinion of the Court in banc on the question of law reserved, to wit: Whether, under that act, and the proceedings in the District Court in pursuance of it, the title to the locus in quo became vested in the city of Allegheny, or the lot owners of that city.

When the State, in 1874, laid out the reserve tract in lots and caused a plot to be made of it, Bank Lane was marked on the plot as running on the bank of the Allegheny river. The island was also indicated on the plot, with a narrow channel between it and the main land. But no distances were given. It was in evidence that Bank Lane had been to some extent shoved southward; the plaintiffs contended entirely across the original channel between it and the island. But the verdict of the jury shows otherwise. The plot attached to the verdict indicates the original location of Bank Lane, or at least its northern boundary, its present location now called (South avenue, having a width of sixty feet,) the channel and the northern low water line of the island. Measuring the distance according to the scale of that plot, the space between the south line of South avenue and the northern boundary of the island, as fixed by the jury, would be about as follows: At the head of the island, 348 feet; along the centre of the bridge embankment, 300 feet; opposite the mouth of Allegheny avenue, 188 feet; opposite the mouth of Walker street, 144 feet; at a point 400 feet below Walker street, 140 feet, and widening out from that point to the foot of the island.

WHAT THE PLAINTIFFS CLAIMED.

The plaintiffs claimed title under a patent from the State, issued in pursuance of a special act of the Legislature, approved the 28th of April, 1873. The boundaries of the patent embraced much more than the verdict of the jury. But as the declared object of the act was to perfect the title to the island, and the act recited the title or the claim of the plaintiffs, as derived from the Indian chief, Killbuck, who made application for the island in 1806, the jury were instructed that the plaintiffs were not entitled to recover more than the island.

The recitals in the act, I consider of very little consequence in the decision of the reserved question. Killbuck never followed up his application, nor obtained any valid title. Whatever claim he had was forfeited by not getting a warrant of survey, and paying for the island as requested by the act of 27th January, 1806. But even if he had, an inchoate title, and could have transferred it to Abner Barker, it became extinct when the island was swept away by the great flood of 1832. The foundation of it then became the bed of the river. It was the bed of the river in 1858. The title was in the State. No law then existing authorized it to be taken up or claimed as private property. And if by virtue of the Act of Assembly of 16th April, 1858, the title became vested in the City of Allegheny, or the lot owners, the State could not afterwards grant it to another. In that case the act of 28th of April, 1873, would be a nullity. The State might waive all preliminaries required by former acts, in order to perfect the title of an applicant, and no doubt the State would be bound by the recitals in the act; but the vested rights of others could not thus be legislated away. If the State had made a gift of this island or its foundation in 1858 to Allegheny city, she could not in 1873 revoke her gift, and for the paltry sum of $300, sell it to another. Such an act would be inconsistent with the character and dignity of a sovereign State.

CERTAIN "ACTS" AND DECISIONS CONSIDERED.

In 1849, as decided in Reid's case, the island had ceased to exist, and there was no law authorizing the foundation to be taken up as an island. * * * * If, therefore, there were no intervening rights, the act of 1873 would give a good title to plaintiffs, without reference to Killbuck's title. But there were intervening rights. Killbuck's claim could not be galvanized into a living title to defeat them.

The title of the city or the lot owners may be derived directly or indirectly from the act of 1858. They do not claim by express grant of the State or any other party. They do not pretend ever to have had title to the island. After the island was swept away, the foundation remained as a bar in the river. They had no legal claim to that. It was the bed of the river. It was not alluvion. It was not a deposit or accretion, and no more attached to the main land than when the island existed. It was not a Reliction nor an Avulsion. It did not, therefore, fall within any of the recognized common law rights of riparian owners. And if the act of 1858 did not extend those rights, or in some other way give them a title, they have none." The Judge here considers the title of the lot owners, and cannot see what title or interest the lot owners can have in the locus in quo, separate from the city corporation; or that may not be said to be vested in the city corporation as their representative and for their use. He continues thus: "Let us then consider what title, if any, the city has. And this, as before stated, must be derived from the act of Assembly of 1858. The city, as a corporation, has not, and never had a fee in Bank Lane, nor any title or interest therein, except as one of the streets of the city.

REASONS FOR CONSIDERING THESE QUESTIONS.

These acts of Assembly and decisions of the Supreme Court, are referred to for two purposes; first, to show that in 1858 the State had nothing left in the Reserve tract; and second, what title the City of Allegheny had at that time. The act of incorporation gave the city no title to Bank Lane or any other street. By the act of September 11th, 1787, it was expressly declared, that they "shall be common highways forever."

Bank Lane, as a highway, extended from the southern line of the river lots to low water mark of the river. If the river slowly and gradually receded and left alluvial deposits on the bank, the allusion would, no doubt, become a part of the highway, and Bank Lane would gradually widen out. And this would be the case whether it extended 10 feet or 1,000. For this purpose the city corporation, as representing the public, might be considered a riparian owner and entitled to riparian rights. But as before stated, this is not a case of allusion, as recognized by the common law, and these principles will not secure the locus in quo to the City of Allegheny unless aided by the act of 1858." The Judge here discusses the act of 1858. It is entitled "An act to establish high and low water lines in the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio river, in the vicinity of Pittsburgh, in Allegheny county." * * * * If by construction of the statute, the locus in quo passes to Allegheny City, it passes simply as an accretion to Bank Lane. That highway would then be a curious anomaly. From an ordinary street at both ends, it would swell out with Aldermanic proportions, to 1,000 feet in the middle. But in point of fact, it would be useless as a highway. It would cost more to fill up the river than the city could afford to spend for a highway or even for a park. Unless sold for manufacturing or building purposes it will never be filled up. It will always remain an eye sore and bone of contention. Although claiming it for many years, yet the city has never thought of filling it up for public use. She has always contemplated extending her streets through it, and laying it off in lots for sale. Whether she could do so without express legislation authorizing it, is very doubtful.

THE CONCLUSION REACHED.

We are, therefore, of opinion that the title to that portion of the river bed between Bank lane and low water line as fixed by the Commissioners and the District Court, did not pass, to or rest in, the City of Allegheny, or the lot owners, under or by virtue of the act of April 16th, 1858. It is a casus omissus, a case not contemplated by the statute, or provided for in it. The title consequently remained in the State, subject to the control of the Legislature. The reserved question is therefore decided in favor of the plaintiff, on payment of the verdict fees.

The defendants will carry the case to the Supreme Court.

AMUSEMENTS.

Pittsburgh Opera House.

The opening performance by Duprez & Benedict's celebrated minstrel organization will be given this evening at this place of amusement. This is one of the best and most popular troupes now traveling and that it is quite a favorite in Pittsburgh was evidenced by the large houses it drew last season while at Library Hall. It comprises some of the best "burnt cork artists" in the profession as well as a number of excellent vocalists. The Opera House will be the center of attraction during the stay of this troupe.

Germania Garden.

Nearly one thousand people attended the opening of this new place last evening. It presented a brilliant and imposing spectacle, and was a source of amusement. The musical performances were of the highest order, and as music is to be one of the chief features of the Germania Garden, we have no doubt it will be liberally patronized.

THE WATER DEPARTMENT.

Expenditures Ordered—The Bill of Wm. Smith Ordered to be Paid—The Matter of the cracked Valve Chambers—An Interesting Question Concerning the Use of Certain Stone—Engineer Morely Against Contractor Walter.

The Water Committee, after three efforts, succeeded in obtaining a quorum last night, and transacted the business noted below. Matters pertaining to the old works were first disposed of. The following pay-rolls were approved:

Salaries	$ 398 32
Lower Works	908 10
Hydrant Men and Drillers	535 41
Upper Works	402 50
Forty-fifth Street Works	296 99
Street Hands	830 17
Bills	4,961 71
Total	$8,333 20

A number of petitions for abatements and exonerations of water tax were disposed of, after which Mr. Hunter, from the sub-committee appointed to investigate the complaint of Mrs. Vick that her water assessment was altogether too high, reported that they had made an investigation, and found her assessment for the present year almost one-half below schedule rates. The committee recommended that the assessment be approved and that they be discharged. Adopted.

Water extension business was next taken up and the following pay rolls for June approved:

Office pay roll	$1,810 83
Foundations	1,052 05
Street hands	84 00
Engineer's bills	197 35
Total	$3,144 23

The subjoined estimates for June were also approved:

Herron's Hill reservoir	$ 731 07
Hiland Avenue "	9,869 24
Total	$10,600 31

The discovery of the cracked valve chambers accounts for the absence above of estimates on the first and second pair of engines. If the chambers should have to be recast the contractor is already overpaid.

The Clerk read a communication from Wm. Smith asking the committee to pay him the balance of $10,000 due him on his contract for furnishing the city with water pipes, and $2,577.94 for sundry articles furnished outside of the contract. The total amounts to $12,577.94. The latter item did not agree with the account kept in the office of the Water Committee which footed up $2,442.57. Engineer Morely said that the office account was correct. After some discussion the balance of $10,000 due on final estimate, was directed to be paid but no action was taken as to the other.

A communication from James Irwin, stating that he was a signer of a petition recently acted upon by the committee for a water main on Forty-second street, between Penn avenue and Butler street, without practical results, was read. Mr. Irwin stated that rather than lay a pipe through his own ground to Forty-fourth street, about 400 feet, he would purchase the necessary main and pay for laying it on such terms as may be agreed on for restitution. The distance from Penn avenue to his building is about 600 or 700 feet. The matter was referred to a sub-committee, in connection with the Civil Engineer, to confer with Mr. Irwin.

The Secretary was directed to advertise for bids for laying a water pipe on Jackson street, in the Twenty-first ward, and the committee decided to place fifty new fire plugs in the hill wards of the South Side. One hundred and twenty are needed there.

Mechanical Engineer Lowry stated to the committee that the estimate for April, in favor of Mr. Hartupee, for $1,920, on the second pair of engines had been laid over at the meeting held on the first of May. He knew of no reason why such action should have been taken, and recommended that the estimate be paid. On motion the action of May was reconsidered, and Mr. Hartupee was ordered to be paid. Chairman Brown stated that the paying of the above estimates, together with the bill of Mr. Smith for $10,000, would be an overdraft on the funds of the committee of about $15,000, but that arrangements had been made with the Controller for their payment.

The correspondence which passed between Mechanical Engineer Lowry and Contractor Hartupee with reference to the cracked valve chambers, barrels and pumps discovered at the pumping house foundations, was next read. It also comprised the matter of the use of lead as bedding for iron plates at the foundation, for which Mr. Hartupee stated that he would claim extra compensation, because the specifications contain no provision requiring the use of lead. When the letters had all been read, Mr. Hartupee was asked for a statement in regard to the valve chambers, and he said that he knew nothing of the cracks until his attention had been called to them. He subsequently discovered that a workman in his employ had filled the breaks in two of the chambers, but he thought that all of them could be fixed in such a way as to make them equally as good and strong as they originally were, and upon that he expressed his willingness to stake his mechanical reputation. The cracks were caused, he said, by the outer walls of the chambers cooling faster than the inner walls and creating a separating pressure too strong to be resisted. He recommended the appointment of a number of experts to examine the chambers for the purpose of ascertaining if a method of strengthening them cannot be decided upon.

Mechanical Engineer Lowry followed Mr. Hartupee, and said that in their present condition he would not consent to the chambers going into the work, and the statement that he knew of the cracks in them he pronounced wholly incorrect. If experts should be appointed and they should recommend a way to strengthen the chambers, he would agree to their method, provided he was convinced that it would make them as sound and serviceable as though nothing had ever happened. Otherwise he would not. After some discussion among members of the committee, the matter was referred to the Committee on Machinery in connection with the Mechanical Engineer.

The committee next bent a listening ear to a statement from Jacob H. Walter, contractor for the Hiland avenue reservoir. He said there was a difference of opinion between him and Civil Engineer Morely as to the quality of the stone he was using for the coping of the inner slopes of the reservoir. The kind of stone he is now making use of, or proposes to make use of, for that purpose, had been decided by the ex-Civil Engineer to be as good as any other, and if the committee should require him to use another quality of stone he would demand pay for the difference in price, and ask to be recompensed for the expense he had already undergone in quarrying the stone which the Civil Engineer has condemned.

Engineer Morely stated in reply that he was only requiring the contractor to comply with the specifications which distinctly set forth that the cut masonry shall be of Freeport, Baden or Catfish stone, and the coping shall be made from the same quality of stone as the cut masonry. Mr. Walter, he said, is only using the common blue stone, such as the Court House is made of, and which will not stand the weather. The former Engineer had allowed the influent and effluent chambers to be constructed if this very inferior quality of blue stone, and because of that Mr. Walter came before the committee and claimed that he should be permitted to use the same stone in the balance of the work.

Mr. Walter said the action of the former Engineer in allowing the cut masonry to be made of that quality of stone had decided the character of the stone to be used in the coping.

Mr. Morely emphatically asserted that it did no such thing; that the specifications fixed the character of the stone to be of as good quality as Catfish, Baden or Freeport and he proposed that the contractor should use just exactly that kind of stone and no other. He pronounced the claim of Mr. Walter as absurd and sort of jeered at the idea of basing it upon the fact that other work had been done with inferior stone, and he was inclined to the belief that in a few years that masonry would have to be rebuilt again—a result of the use of such poor stone.

The committee talked over the matter for a while and finally referred it to Mr. Morely with power to act, which was equivalent to saying that Mr. Walter shall use the sort of stone required by the specifications.

Adjourned to meet again next Wednesday and visit the pumping house foundations for the purpose of taking a look at the damaged valve chamber.

RAMPAGEOUS SWINE.

Exploits of a Wild Hog in Allegheny.

It seems, that as the Texan steers have not been making things lively in Allegheny for some time past, and the people over there can not get along without some excitement, a new feature in the wild animal line was inaugurated over there yesterday. At noon one of Allegheny's butchers, who resides in the upper portion of the city, purchased a large hog at the cattle yards, and loading it in a wagon, started home. When he got on Second street, his hogship, who had been grunting his objections to the ride, walked up to the front part of the wagon, and astonished the butcher by suddenly sinking his molars into his right side, tearing open his clothes and inflicting an ugly wound. The hog then caught one of his fingers in his mouth and bit it. The butcher by this time got out of the reach of the animal. It then jumped out of the wagon and made at several men, driving them into a house, and trying to follow them up a pair of stairs. Being unsuccessful, it returned to the street again. After prancing around for some time, a bull dog was set on it, but the hog quickly make the "purp" seek shelter. It then made for a young man who failed to get out of the way in time, the hog leaped up and tore off the sleeves of his coat and shirt on one arm, and inflicted a wound about four inches long on the other. By this time several hundred persons had collected together and coercive measures adopted. A rope was obtained, and finally after considerable trouble, his hogship was lassoed, and then tied up so that he could neither run nor bite. In this condition it was thrown into the wagon and hauled from the scene of strife. Besides the two persons injured, quite a number of others narrowly escaped being hurt by the brute.

A JOYOUS ANNIVERSARY.

The Ninth Annual Gathering of the Sixth Avenue U. P. Mission Sabbath School—A Happy Reunion of the Church and Sunday School.

A very happy and joyous anniversary meeting was held in the Sixth Avenue U. P. Church last evening, the occasion being the ninth annual gathering of the Mission School, conducted under the auspices of the church. These meetings have ever proven enjoyable, and are always looked forward to with pleasant anticipations, but the interest in that of last evening was doubly enhanced by an understanding that there would be a departure from the usual programme, and that the gathering would partake of the character of an anniversary and a church re-union combined. The hour appointed for the opening of the exercises accordingly found the auditorium of the church filled with the members and friends of the school, all deeply interested participants in the exercises. A peculiarity of the anniversary was that it was conducted by the children themselves, "Ye Old Folks," for the time, demurely taking back seats. The presiding officer of the occasion was Master James Little, a bright little sprig of juvenility, who officiated with Chesterfieldian grace and artless self-possession. The programme was opened about eight o'clock by the singing of the 100th Psalm, in which all the people engaged. A Scripture reading followed, the selection being Matt. 5: 1—12. The conductor and people read alternately, and the exercise was followed with prayer by the pastor, the Rev. Thomas H. Hanna. The audience then united in singing the 98th Psalm, after which the conductor read the annual report of the school for the past year. The report showed that there had been an average attendance of 300; the benevolent collections had aggregated $207.06; 79 scholars had signed the total abstinence pledge. The International series of lessons had been used. The effect of the teaching was evidenced in the turning of some to the Saviour and the revival of others; there was a great demand for more teachers; the annual picnic and Chrismas celebration had been highly successful; earnest thanks were returned to the Superintendent (Mr. T. H. Rabe) for his untiring efforts. The report further sets forth: "We also want to testify to the interest the pastor of the church has ever shown in the little ones. We all love him, and feel very sad to learn that he intends to leave us. We trust that the Great Shepherd may ever lead him 'In green pastures and beside the still waters,' and that wherever he labors he may be blessed in leading many boys and girls, and men and women to Jesus, the loving Saviour."

The officers of the school are: Superintendent, Mr. Thomas H. Rabe; Assistant, Mr. T. J. Gillespie. Secretaries, Messrs. C. E. Hartupee and Jackson Pitcairn; Treasurer, Miss Maud Shinn; Librarian, Miss Mary Flinn. The past year has been one of progress, and the future is full of promise.

Following the report, Annie Nesbit and Bessie Reed, two little representatives of the Infant class, sang a duet, commencing, "I am so glad that Jesus loves me," the other children joining in the chorus. The Old Folks then made their appearance, twenty-four in number, twelve boys and twelve girls, with "John Smith" as schoolmaster. All were arrayed in old folks' costume, the girls wearing caps, white frill flowing and long dresses, colored sashes and deep collars. The costumes made a very pretty and comical effect. The class sang "Auld Lang Syne"—clasping hands while singing the chorus—and the humorous song "Old Colony Times," telling of the sorrows of "three roguish chaps, who fell into mishaps, because they could not sing." Missionary messages were next read by four boys—telling of the mission work under the Church's care in Egypt, India, Syria and China. The juvenile choir of the school sang "Jesus of Nazereth Passeth By," and Annie Diehl sang "Hold the Fort"—the school joining in the chorus. This completed the programme of literary and musical exercises. It was a delightful one throughout, and the juvenile performers are entitled to all praise. The music was under the supervision of Prof. J. K. Creighton, the chorister of the school, and the enthusiastic applause with which it was received attested that the audience was thoroughly pleased with the manner in the children acquitted themselves.

The second part of the evening's entertainment consisted of refreshments served in the Sunday school room. This was principally arranged through the liberality of Superintendent Rabe. The doors were thrown open, and all the children and old folks, members of the school and church were invited to enter and partake. The invitation was accepted with alacrity, and the ice cream, and cake faded away like the mists of the morning. There was a goodly supply, however—and no matter how large the demand, the storehouse suppled all wants. All formality was dispensed with and free hearted, fraternal feeling pervaded the throng. The good things too were not all absorbed by the members and friends of the school and church alone, but many a little juvenile from the neighborhood, attracted to the place by the sounds of pleasure, entered and received a hospitable welcome. The spirit of genuine social cheer prevailed, and it was a reunion that will long be remembered as one of the "Red Letter" occasions in the history of both church and school. The entertainment was concluded about half-past ten o'clock, when the people gradually dispersed homewards with the most pleasant recollections of the commemoration of the "Ninth Anniversary."

THE "FOURTH."

Special Services in the Episcopal Churches—A Circular Letter Issued by Bishop Kerfoot.

Rev. J. B. Kerfoot, Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Pittsburgh, has issued a circular letter to the clergy of the diocese, calling attention to the fact that as Sunday next will be the Fourth of July, it is becoming to make "in that day's services special recognition of our God by proper lessons, prayers and thanksgiving." He, therefore, makes provisions for such services. The lesson is from Jeremiah, 18th chapter, 6,11 verses. Proper Psalm—The Psalter for the fourth day, morning prayer. First Lesson—Exodus, 3d chapter. Second Lesson—Romans, 13th chapter. The Epistle—Ephesians, 5th chapter, 1st to 10th verses. Gospel—St. John, 8th chapter, 31st-37 verses. These will be followed by a special thanksgiving and a special collect, to be used after the thanksgiving and collect of the day. These are as follows:

A Special Thanksgiving to be used after the General Thanksgiving: Almighty God, who hast in all ages showed forth Thy power and mercy in the wonderful preservation of Thy Church, and in the protection of every nation and people professing Thy holy and eternal truth and putting their sure trust in Thee; we yield Thee our unfeigned thanks and praise for all Thy mercies to this people, and more especially for that signal and wonderful manifestation of Thy Providence in the history of our nation, which we commemorate this day; wherefore not unto us, O Lord, not unto us, but unto Thy name be ascribed all honor and glory, in all Churches of the Saints, from generation to generation, through Jesus Christ our Lord. Amen.

A special collect, to be used after the collect of the day: O Lord our God, Who hast vouchsafed to take to Thee this nation by wonders and by wars, by a mighty hand and by an outstretched arm, make us know therefore this day and consider it in our hearts, that Thou, the Lord, art God in Heaven above, and upon the earth beneath, and that there is no God else, beside Thee. Make us to keep therefore Thy statutes and Thy commandments which Thou hast commanded us, that it may go well with us, and our children after us, and that Thou mayest prolong the days of this nation upon the earth, which Thou, the Lord our God, giveth us. Make manifest, O Ever lasting God, in this and in all the nations, the revelation of Thy Eternal Son, Jesus Christ, for the obedience of faith. Ever send forth, Thy Holy Spirit to guide us into all truth, and to keep this nation faithful to Thee. Establish Thy Kingdom throughout this land forever, and make known among us by Thy Church the manifold wisdom of our God, so that we may ever be a People obeying and loving Thy Holy Name, through Thine Only Son, Jesus Christ, our Lord. Amen.

For the Evening Prayer, the same opening sentences. The Psalter.—The Fifth Selection of Psalms. The First Lesson.—Deuteronomy, 8th ch. The Second Lesson.—Hebrews, 11th ch. And the Special Collect and Thanksgiving as in the Morning Prayer.

ALLEGHENY STREETS.

Meeting of the Street Committee—Various Improvements Ordered.

A regular meeting of the Street Committee of Allegheny Councils was held last evening, Mr. N. H. Voegtly in the chair.

The action of the previous meeting in ordering the preparation of an ordinance for a sewer on Monterey street, from Jackson to Ackley streets, was reconsidered, and an ordinance ordered to be prepared for a sewer on Monterey street, from Jackson street to Ledlie street.

The contractor on the improvement of Henderson street was directed to proceed at once with the completion of his contract.

Messrs. Hartman, Schmitt and Golden were appointed a sub-committee to examine West End avenue to see what can be done to relieve the property there from being overflowed with water.

The Engineer was directed to make the assessment for the improvement of Fairmount street.

The City Solicitor was directed to notify the viewers on opening of Boyle street to make their report as soon as possible.

Messrs. Bedell, Cochran and Hartman were appointed a sub-committee to examine and report in regard to the advisability of grading School street.

The matter of the injunction having been issued by the Court, ordering the suspension of the construction of the Madison avenue sewer in the Sawmill Valley Plankroad, at the request of the company owning that road, was then taken up, and it was agreed to report a resolution to Councils, authorizing the filing of a bond of indemnity in the matter, so as to allow the contractor to proceed with the work.

The committee decided to report an ordinance to Councils for the extension of the Western avenue sewer to a point three hundred feet east of its present terminus.

The resolution adopted at the last meeting, directing the removal of certain obstructions on Woods' Run avenue, was reconsidered.

Adjourned.

POLICE COMMITTEE.

Meeting Last Night—The Mayor Wants Differences Settled—Policemen Appointed and Dropped—The Imposition of Fines on Officers Discussed.

The Police Committee met last night in the Common Council chamber, Mr. W. W. Thompson in the chair.

The Mayor reported the resignations of the following members of the police force which were accepted: W. S. Reed, Thomas Kienan, J. G. Moore, James Pillow and M. McTighe. The following were dropped: Martin Yost, Michael Ford, James S. Fleming and A. Crawford.

A motion was made to receive the report, but Mr. Braun objected, asserting that the Mayor had failed to comply with the law. He then read from an ordinance in the City Code, which says that the Mayor in reporting dismissals of policemen shall accompany the report with the facts in the case.

The Mayor then arose and said that between him and the Police Committee there was a difference which should be settled, and that now was as good a time as any other. He was Mayor of the city, had control and management of the police force, and knew of no law which gave the committee supervisory power over him.

At this point Mr. Braun objected, and said that the Mayor had not been asked to speak.

Chairman Thompson also objected to the Mayor abusing the committee.

Mayor—I am not abusing the committee.

The Mayor took his seat until permission was given him to speak, when he reiterated his former statement, and said that the opposition to him appeared to come principally from one person. He explained his construction of the law requiring him to report dismissals, and held that he complied with it in merely stating the fact of dismissal. There was no authority by virtue of which his reasons could be demanded, and that to extract such a meaning from the law was to misconstrue it.

Mr. Braun again read the law, as well as a section from another ordinance, and said that to him it was plain enough that not only the dismissal but the facts of the case should be reported.

Mr. Thompson said that he thought the Mayor had complied with the ordinance.

The report was then received.

The following new appointments on the police force were submitted and the papers of the appointees being correct, they were approved: Charles McCormick, Michael Reilly, Patrick Hanlon, W. F. Cook, Henry Kratz, David Collins, John E. Jones, Michael Brannon, J. W. Moore, Geo. Ingram, J. M. Hartzell, Philip Dressler, Thomas M. Shannon, Pat. O'Donnell, David Collins and John E. Jones.

Mr. Braun, from the Committee on Monthly Pay Rolls, reported that the pay roll footed up $15,826.70, except $25 which had been deducted for fines. The gentleman stated that he was the only one of the committee who had examined the roll, and he reported a difference in his calculation of $90 from the report as submitted. He thought this matter should receive attention before the report was adopted.

The pay roll was approved, however. Mr Braun thought that the committee had but little regard for his views in the matter, and stated that he would enter a protest against the adoption of the report.

The Mayor was called upon to explain upon what grounds the fine upon officers had been imposed, when he read from an ordinance which said that for any neglect of duty, &c., the Mayor had authority to impose a fine. He said that instead of suspending a policeman, he had adopted this method of procedure, as an officer often regarded a suspension of a few days as a privilege, and hence he thought another sort of punishment would be more beneficial.

Mr. Braun spoke against such a course on account of its illegality. He contended that these policemen could enter suit against the city at any time for the amount due them.

The following bills were approved: P. Gallisath, $56.40; W. Lowry, $2.10; Dennis McMullin, $77.50; Dennis McMullin, $33.60; Van B. Fowler, $11.40; Jeremiah Murphy, $34.25; Dr. McCoy, $75; T. B. Stewart, $5.13; Mayor McCarthy, $4.75.

A petition from Officer Harmon Berger, asking that he be allowed pay for five days which he lost on account of injuries received in a riot at East Liberty, during the month of May, was presented and approved.

The committee decided to report back to Councils for favorable action an ordinance fixing the compensation of the repairman of the police telegraph at $250 per annum, to be paid monthly,

Mr. Thompson offered his resignation as Chairman of the committee, which was not accepted.

The committee then adjourned.

The case of R. H. Emerson, indicted for nuisance on the oath of A. H. Rowand, Jr., reported yesterday, is still on trial.

Trial List for To-day.

Peter Douglass,	Daniel Driscoll,
Frank Hinerman,	Thos. Kavenaugh, et al,

	John Young, et al.,
Lewis Danzig, (2)	Geo. Bell,

BILLS IGNORED.

The Grand Jury ignored the bills against the following persons yesterday: William Ryan, larceny and receiving stolen goods; Charles Karr and Lincoln Karr, similar charge; Samuel Schlup, aggravated assault and battery; John Crow, assault; H. W. Kirkpatrick, false pretenses; Arnold Wieman, false pretenses, and Eliza Bilyevie, keeping a disorderly house.

ACTION FOR DAMAGES.

Edward Haynes brought an action in the Common Pleas Court No. 2 yesterday against R. S. Graham for $1,000 damages. The plaintiff sets forth that on the 20th day of August, 1874, the defendant assaulted and shot him, which caused him to be ill for a long time, besides putting him to heavy expense. He therefore brings this action for damages as stated.

OPINIONS DELIVERED.

In the case Mary A. Craig and Harriet Houston vs. the Security Trust Co., an opinion was delivered by Judge White yesterday. It will be remembered that the plaintiffs were stockholders in the institution and brought an action to recover certain money on the ground of alleged negligence on the part of the directors. At the time of the trial, Judge White ordered a non suit to be entered, with leave for the plaintiffs' counsel to move to take it off, when the question as to whether the directors' acts constituted gross negligence would be determined by the Court after full argument. The case was argued before a full bench a few days ago, and in the decision of the Court yesterday, it refused to take off the non suit. The case will be taken to the Supreme Court.

A non suit was ordered in the case of D. L. Patterson, et al. vs. the Ben. Franklin Insurance Co., at the time it came up for trial, which was fully reported at that time, and, in an opinion delivered by Judge White yesterday morning, he refused to take it off.

COURT BREVITIES.

Judge Sterrett ordered that Margaret Hays be sent to Dixmont Hospital, on account of insanity. Two witnesses were examined, who testified that she lived in the Nineteenth ward, and was suffering from mental aberration to such an extent as to be dangerous.

In the case of the Wheeler & Wilson Sewing Machine Company vs. Young et al., which was argued in the Common Pleas Court No. 2 yesterday, the motion for a new trial was refused.

The constables of the Third and Fourth wards, Pittsburgh, of the First ward, Allegheny, of the borough of West Elizabeth, Etna and Mansfield, and the townships of Harrison, South Versailles, South Fayette, Richland, Kilbuck, Franklin and North Versailles will appear before the Grand Jury with their witnesses on July 6th, 1875, to prosecute upon their returns.

NEW BRIGHTON.

Death of a Young Lady—Burglars About—Business—Religious.

Correspondence of the Pittsburgh Gazette.

NEW BRIGHTON, PA., July 1, 1875.

A Probable Suicide.

On Wednesday morning, June 23, it was stated that a young lady had taken a teaspoonful of arsenic, mistaking it for salts. Medical aid was called, but suffering greatly, she lingered until Sabbath morning, when she died about three o'clock. She was buried about four o'clock the same day. Many rumors were in circulation as to the cause of such an act, or whether it was willful, none of which, however, seemed to have reached the Coroner until after the interment. The District Attorney instructed the Coroner to exhume the body and proceed with an investigation. From the testimony it would appear that the act was premeditated, but from all the testimony nothing was developed to show an immediate cause for the rash act. The parents are respectable, and have the sympathy of the community.

A Bad, Bold Burglar.

You are having in your city the occasional, if not frequent, visits of persons not dentists, but who know how to use the nippers as well. One of the same kind visited the dwelling of one of our merchants, Mr. J. C. Whitla, Tuesday night, the gentleman being absent during the day. He ransacked the lower part of the house, and then went up stairs to Mrs. W.'s bed room, and she awakening, saw him standing at the bureau. She and the girl sprang up and raised the alarm, but before help arrived the thief disappeared with a considerable amount of jewelry.

Business Items.

The woolen mills that have been standing idle for some months are now in operation, giving employment to labor and capital. The Chain works have received a new impulse. Capitalists from Boston have been here, and spent some time witnessing the operation of the machines and examining the extensive buildings, and were more than pleased with their investigation. The works have every appearance of assured success. We understand that the company is having built a machine suitable for the heaviest kind of work. Two new stores have lately been added to the already large number. Two new physicians have been recorded among the list of professionals, Dr McConnell and Dr. Jordan. They are both upright young men, and are deserving of success, and although yet young, the community is expecting that they will prove themselves the worthy sons of "the man with a flowing beard."

Allegheny District Conference

held its first session for this year at Rochester, Tuesday and Wednesday of this week. The attendance of the preachers was respectable in numbers. The disciplinary matters were attended to—about the usual way. The question that elicited most interest was that relating to the proposed division of the annual Conference. By the programme, Rev. A. L. Petty, of Sewickley, and Rev. E. M. Wood, of New Brighton, were to open the question, the first being in favor of a division and the latter opposed. They presented the reasons that seemed to favor their positions. The Presiding Elder, Dr. Nesbit, left the chair and gave the weight of his argument in favor of a division. The discussion was resumed in the evening. The attendance was small, and a number who are known to be opposed to the division being absent, the vote was in favor of division. It is believed that a full vote by the District would be against division. SYLVAN.

BURGLARY IN ALLEGHENY.

A Lively Chase and Escape of the Burglar—A Vigorous Rascal.

About four o'clock yesterday morning a burglar gained an entrance into the residence of Mr. Burchell, on Union avenue, near Montgomery avenue, by entering the cellar through a window in the rear part. From there he forced open a door and entered the house. He made a search of the lower rooms and collected a watch, a pocket-book containing some money, and some other articles together and put them in his coat pocket. He was just preparing to leave when Mr. Burchell, who has a produce stand in the Market House, and who got up early for the purpose of attending the market, discovered him and chased him down into the cellar where he knocked him down with a stone, and then caught him by the collar of his coat and vest. A violent tussle ensued, during which the burglar, a colored man, managed to get out of his vest and coat, the latter of which was torn into two pieces. He thus escaped. Mr. Burchell at once called for the police, and Officer Thomas promptly responded, and with the assistance of several other officers gave chase to the burglar. They finally cornered him in the yard in the rear of the Central Hotel and the buildings fronting on Federal street, and were closing in on him when he broke open the rear door of Stevenson & Cartwright's tin store and ran through it and broke open the front doors and escaped. Upon examining the burglar's clothing left in Mr. Burchell's hands, all the stolen articles were found in the coat pockets. There is no clue to the burglar, however, as the clothing contained nothing to show who he was, and the officers did not get a chance to see his face.

The Anti-Treaters.

There was a fair attendance at the meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Reception Room of Municipal Hall for the purpose of organizing an Anti-Treat Society. The object of the proposed society was stated to be the abolition of the habit of "treating," a custom peculiar to this country, and it was claimed that if that could be accomplished it would materially lessen the number of drunkards. A pledge was proposed as follows: "I pledge myself not to ask any person or persons to drink, nor to pay for them, or to drink with any person any spirituous or malt liquors, wine or cider, in any public place where the same is kept for sale." After some discussion a permanent organization was postponed until Thursday afternoon next when another meeting will be held at the same place.

Three Attainable Blessings.

A good appetite, vigorous digestion and sound sleep are the three blessings that imply a good many more, and are attainable by the daily use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. The stomach that is invigorated by that ruling tonic rapidly disposes of the food committed to it, and at the proper time craves for more with natural earnestness, and the brain from pain and despondency have banished by that salutary anodyne and cheering cordial, enjoys at the hour of rest that tranquil, dreamless repose for which no other boon that Providence can bestow can compensate. Besides these most desirable results, the entire physique is strengthened and fortified against the attacks of disease by this splendid vitalizer and protective agent, which, take it altogether, is about the most desirable, as it is unquestionably one of the most popular medicines in existence.
